Humbly we dedicate--

1900-1948

*"We have loved him in life;
let us not forget him in death"*

His life was simple, yet sublime, dedicated to form Christ within our hearts, while his adventure consisted in transferring to us divine truths that he had so admirably contemplated. His infectious humor born of peace with God taught us how to think and act as a Catholic student should. To the world, he was unknown. Only we privileged ones saw his sacrifice, sincerity and magnanimity and are his only wished-for reward "epistles written on his heart." Tears fall for the first Basilian to die at Aquinas. Gratitude swells for this consecrated "Other Christ" who spent himself unselfishly in the best interests of the diocese of Rochester. In his English classes he presented his material with wit, clarity and practicality. With his three vows of poverty, chastity and obedience, he buried himself, but only to rise sublime and immortal in Aquinas' Hall of Fame. The Senior class desires to enshrine Father Dolan by dedicating to his name this 1948 Annual.

Under the patronage of--

Thomas of Aquin, teacher, doctor, philosopher and saint, the Aquinas Institute of Rochester stands a beacon of Catholic living and secondary education. Erected by the Catholic clergy and people of Rochester, the Institute has traditions deep-rooted in time and American ideals.

The Aquinas Institute represents the blossoming of Catholic secondary educational facilities for boys, originally nurtured at the old Cathedral High School. Aquinas opened its doors for the first time on September the eighth, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, and boasted an enrollment of eight hundred and forty-six students. The very Reverend Thomas Hickey, then Bishop of Rochester and patron of the new project, appointed Rev. Wm. Byrne, Ph.D. its first principal. Time saw Father Byrne succeeded by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Joseph Grady. Both Msgr. Grady as principal and Rev.

ST. THOMAS
AQUINAS

Joseph Wurzer as Director of Studies laid fast and deep the academic standards of Aquinas.

In nineteen hundred and thirty-seven the Basilian Fathers first came to Rochester. Aquinas had its first Basilian principle in Father John H. O'Loane, C.S.B. Our present principal, Father William Duggan, C.S.B. succeeded Father O'Loane in September, nineteen hundred and forty-three. Father Wilfred Murphy, C.S.B. and Fr. McGee, C.S.B. shouldered the academic administration during these years.

Under our present Bishop, James E. Kearney, "Rochester's Bishop of Education," the Aquinas Institute has expanded and flourished. September, nineteen hundred and forty-six saw the opening of the Aquinas Freshmen Annex designed to house the ever increasing student body. This year there are over 1,725 Aquinas students, staffed by 70 trained teachers numbering Basilians, Diocesan Priests, Sisters of Mercy and Catholic laymen and women, Sisters Stella, Raphael and Brendan have been associated with the Institute since its inception in 1925. Fathers Wilfred Kehoe, Hugh Haffey, Fergus Sheehy and Oscar Regan are the Basilian's pioneers still on the staff.

The Scholastic Year of 1946-47 saw 317 graduates leave Aquinas, all with New York State Regents diplomas. The number of graduates in 1947-48 is an all time high of 363. The whole student body taxes the Institutes capacity of 1725 students.

Aquinas boasts of activity facilities. Spacious modern buildings surrounded by ample acreage house Aquinas students. The library holds 8,000 volumes; the auditorium seats 1,200 and the cafeteria is equipped to take care of the entire student body and staff. The gymnasium and multiple recreational facilities have long been taken for granted.

The Aquinas Institute represents the tangible evidence, the practical attempt to work out the Christian ideals of education. Inspired by the motto of the Basilians, "Teach me Goodness, Discipline and Knowledge," the staff is ever pressing toward this threefold end. The Christian religion and its principles for living are ever before the student, not as another subject taught on an academic curriculum, but as the force behind the teaching of the arts and sciences, permeating the disciplinary and academic life of the student.

Aquinas aims first to teach our young men how to live. The school is seen not as a transition between family and industry, or the professions, not as a preparation for a life to be lived after graduation; but as a school of living here and now, that has its roots in eternity.

That Makes for Higher Living

Bishop Kearney addresses Aquinas at the Sociality reception.

The words "Life" and "Living" are the important key-notes in the understanding of Aquinas. Built around an Academic standard second to none in New York State, extra-curricular activities, extensive enough to appeal to every student and to develop all the faculties of each, are the life-blood of the Institute. It is an attempt to make the business of living synonymous with the joy of living. And this joy of living is made possible by the indoctrination of the teachings of Christ, the Christian principles of joyful living. For it is the conviction of the Christian Educators of Aquinas, that "the happy life" and "the useful life" are made possible only by living the "Christian life." Indeed, The Aquinas Institute boasts of its greatest Staff-Member, and greatest Teacher, Jesus Christ.

Such is The Aquinas Institute of Rochester, the embodiment of the ideals of Christian Education. The Graduates of '48 are proud of and will cherish their Alma Mater and the principles for which she stands. We know that in the years to come, when the graduates are scattered among varied pursuits, this yearbook and Annual Publication will serve of a reminder of all their Alma Mater has meant to them. We hope it shall refresh and revivify the principles for which she stands, and provoke memories of what she has taught.

Alma Mater
Thou place of reverie,
Praise we and uphold thee.
In retrospection we see thy intention,
To always strive for
That which we were made for.
Aquinas evermore.

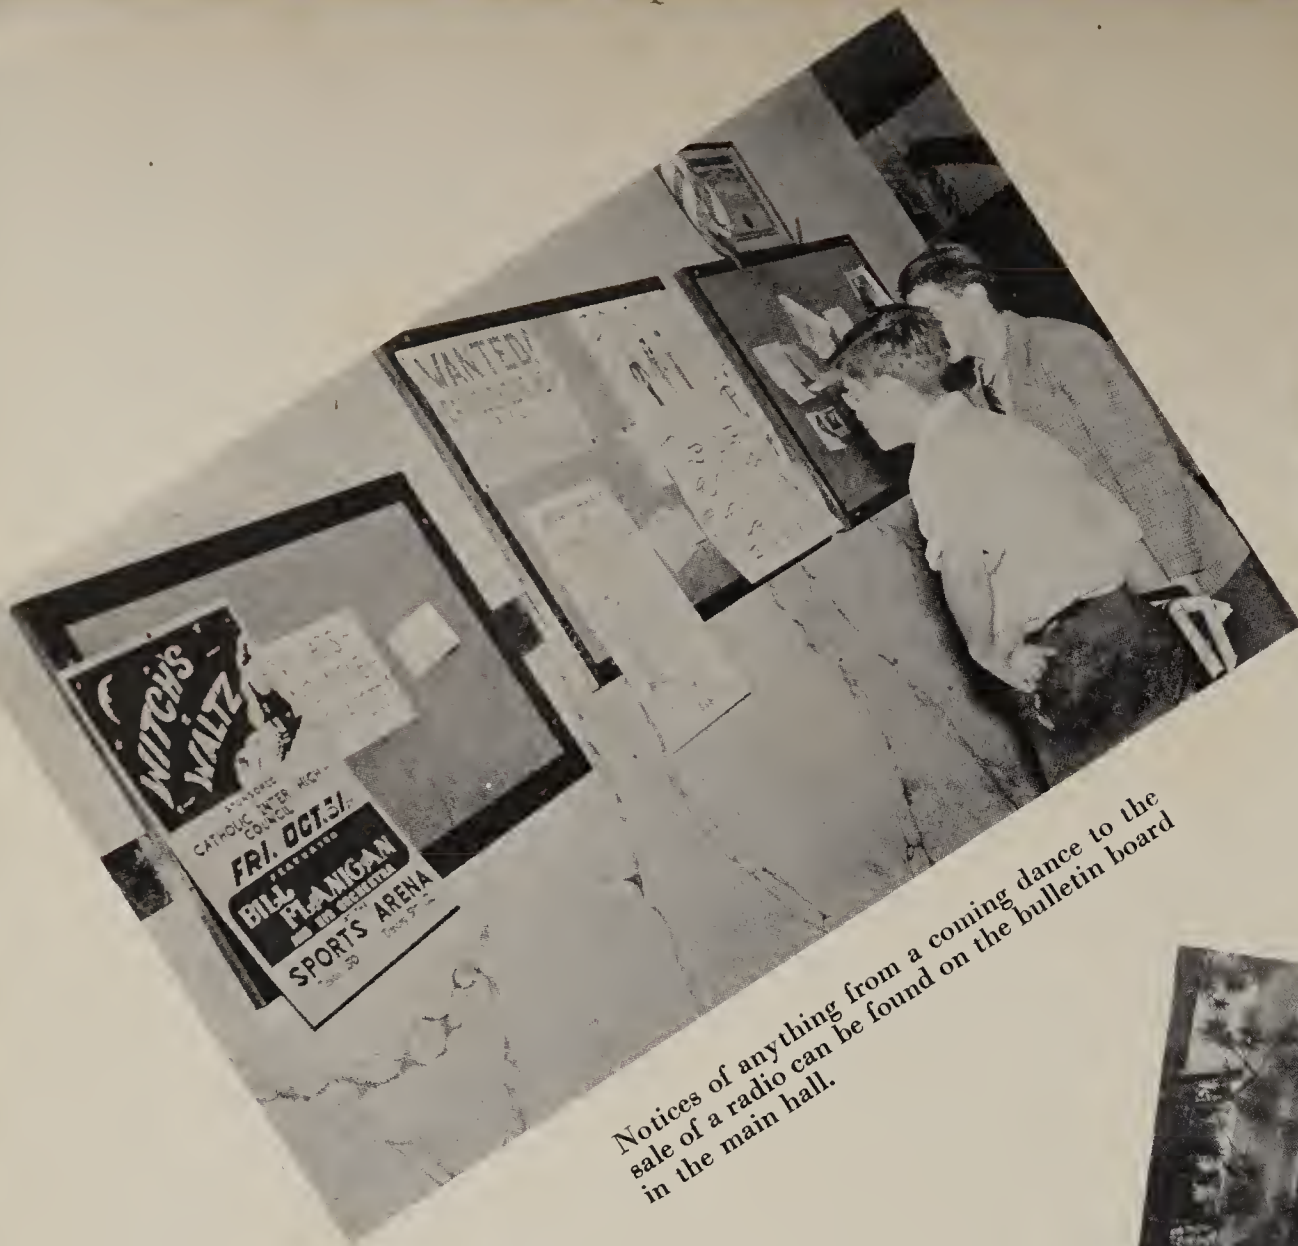

Dear Alma Mater,
May you in all hours
Be the outstanding,
Be the one commanding;
And of those striving
Be the one surviving,
Triumphant over all.

INTRODUCTION.....

To you, Dear Reader, may we introduce our Senior Class President, Thomas Falk. In his position, Tom occupies a unique spot in the hearts of the Senior classmen. To him, Our President, we gladly delegate the honor of showing you through the school year of 1947-'48.

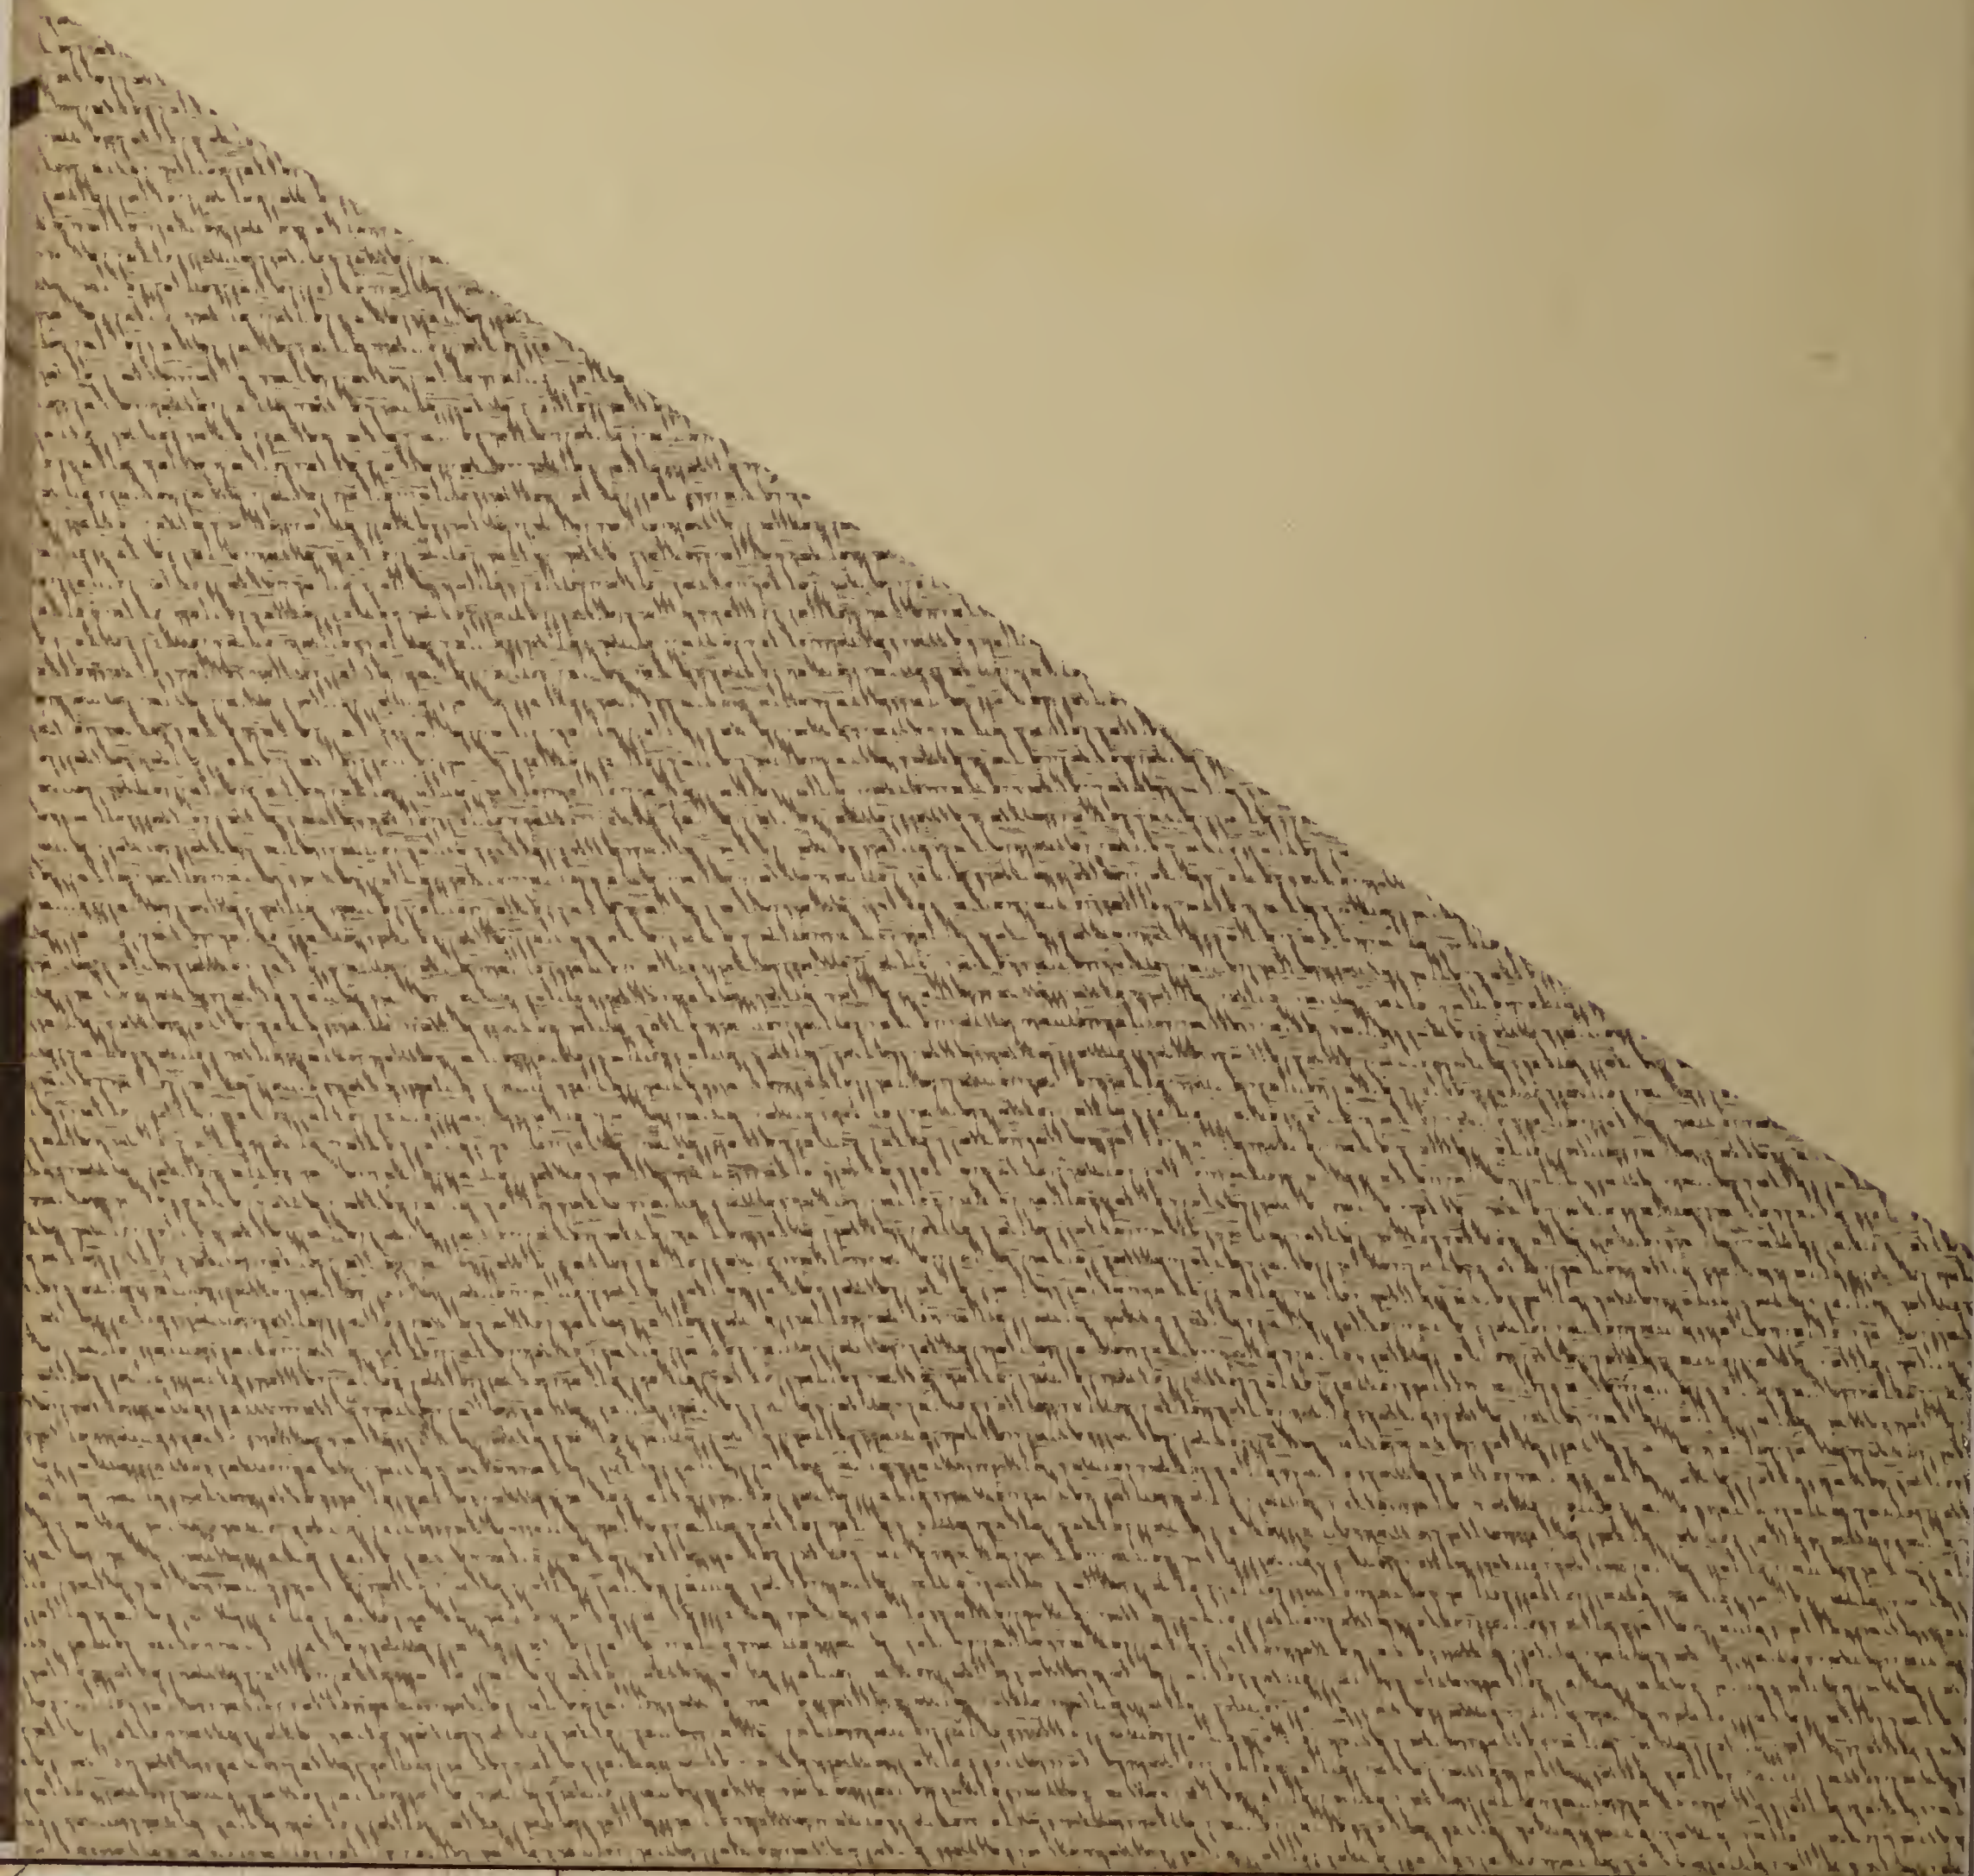

Do not be surprised that you do not find him in a school setting. It seems only right that you gather at Tom's home, and with the members of his family listen to Tom as he recounts the school life at the Aquinas Institute. We say that it seems only right that we find ourselves in a student's home, because there we should expect to find the sympathy and interest we hope to find in you, Dear Reader, as you turn these pages. For where is there more interest, where more care, where more love for us students, than in our homes! Home and School; our fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, and our teachers have converged, each seconding the other, in making possible our education. To us of the Senior Class the two are inseparable!

Dear Reader, we give you our Class President, Thomas Falk! May you share the interest of his family as he turns the pages of this pictorial witness to the life at Aquinas, in the year of Our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-eight. In your charity, we beg a prayer that we of the Senior Class may approach nearer the ideals of Our Institute in Goodness, Discipline and Knowledge . . .

"Credo quidquid dixit Dei Filius!"

The Administration

The Most Reverend James E. Kearney, D.D.
Bishop of Rochester

Our Principal

Fr. Duggan, priest, principal, counsellor, friend, has directed our feet along the way to God, helping us through the years as awed freshmen, egotistical sophomores, sage juniors, and sedate seniors. Because of his untiring efforts, scintillating humor, and adroit guidance, we have cherished each year with him. We consider him not as the stolid principal but as the John Bosco of Aquinas. No greater friend of boys can be found than this Man of God who has dedicated his life to Youth.

The greatest loss to be experienced by the class of '48 will be to lose the companionship of him who has understood our problems, helped us in time of need, and defended us in time of trouble. Our greatest gain will be the assurance that under his firm but friendly guiding hand, we have, in the past four years, been trained to go into the world as stalwart Catholics, to spread the cause of Christ in whatever vocation we choose.

We cannot express in words our sincere gratitude to him who has in every possible way enabled us to "advance in wisdom, and age, and grace before God and men."

Orchids to Mr. Felix Hart

The Senior Class presents orchids to Mr. Felix Hart in recognition of his twenty-two years of loyal service at Aquinas. His friendly smile, his jovial manner and his kind help have endeared him to every student. A familiar sight in the main office Mr. Hart is always ready to assist, to advise, and to oblige. He has become indispensable—a hallmark at Aquinas.

May this small bouquet be a token of the appreciation and gratitude of the Senior Class.

THE SENIOR CLASS...

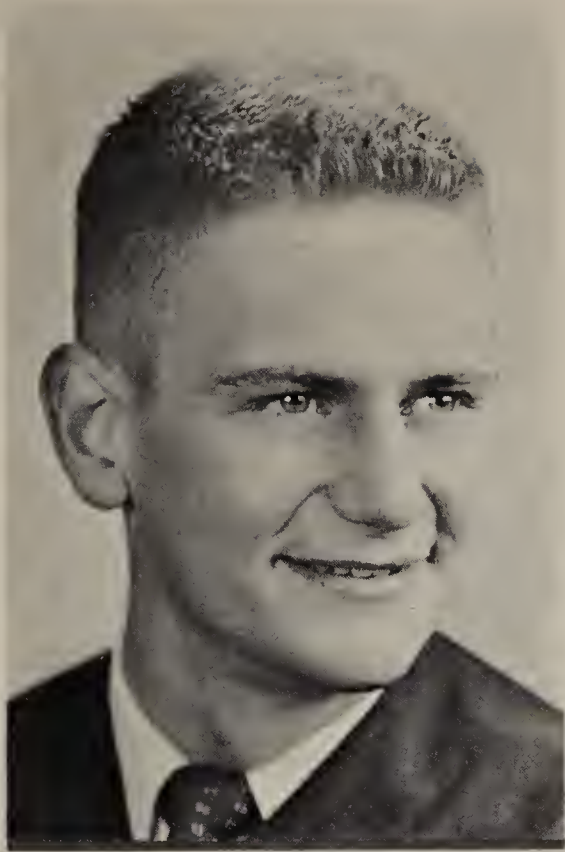

Four cycles of our measured days
We've spent among Aquinas rooms;
And now as graduation looms,
We'll learn how education pays.
These years we've used in sundry ways:
Inspecting squares and Pharaoh's tombs,
Absorbing Greek and chlorine fumes,
Till now is ending high school's phase.
We've tried our tests; we've played our games.
We sometimes failed, but mostly passed.
Upon the records stand our names—
If not the first, at least not last.
So turn the page and feast your sight
Upon the men of whom I write . . .

Lest we forget--

Walter J. Dick

1930-1947

Senior...

Editor...

Friend...

*vivet
in aeternum*

And Jesus said, "I am the Resurrection and the life; he that believeth in Me, though he be dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me, shall never die." This is the promise of God, Himself.

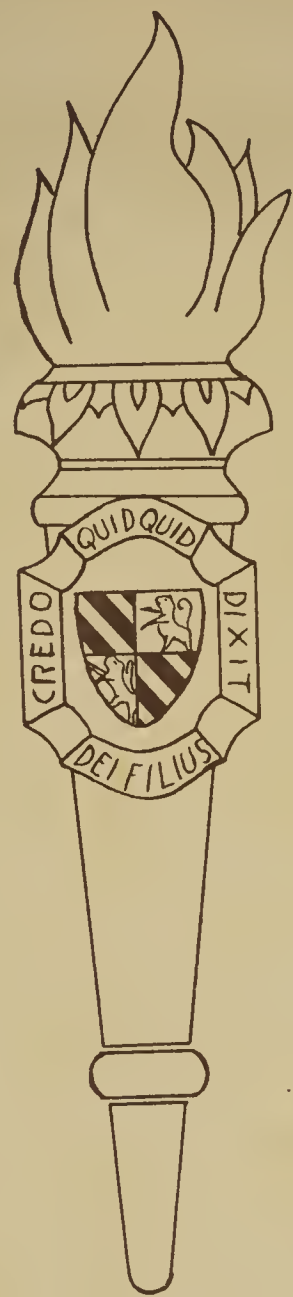

Walter Dick, even though he is dead, shall live; even though he has met death, shall never die. For Walter Dick believed and lived in Christ.

Editor of the Year Book, President of the Acolyte Club, member of Our Lady's Sodality, Honor Student, weekly communicant, aspirant to the priesthood—So Walter was known to the staff and student body. To his more intimate friends, he was that smiling, enthusiastic senior, with the innocence of a boy, and the wisdom of a man. To know him was to love him, he possessed that "spark of the Divine" that drew men to him, that persuaded, that inspired, that ignited the very soul of a man. Walter Dick taught us how to live. He was never known to be satisfied with a job half done. Walter would teach his lesson to its completion. The October sun shone over his beloved school; and the air was filled with the joyous shouts of his classmates, when death struck Walter down. Still striving, still carrying all things before his youthful ardor, still in the midst of his selfless endeavors.

He died in the arms of his teachers, strengthened by the Last Sacrament of the Church, clasping the Rosary of his beloved Queen in his hand. Walter Dick taught us how to die!

"I am the Resurrection and the Life; whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die." Walter Dick lives. He lives in the hearts of all who knew him, as an inspiration, as a vital lesson in living and dying.

"Dear God, receive our prayers of gratitude for being permitted to know thy exemplary servant, Walter. May his life teach us how to live, that we may graduate with him into that Divine College of Eternal Life."

Some juniors ponder a difficult passage from Cicero in Fr. Lococo's Latin class.

Fr. Murphy lectures on History to the sophomores.

The freshmen come up with the answers in Mr. Biondi's Elementary Algebra class.

Mr. McCarthy is surrounded by freshmen at lunch-time in the cafeteria.

St. Thomas Club

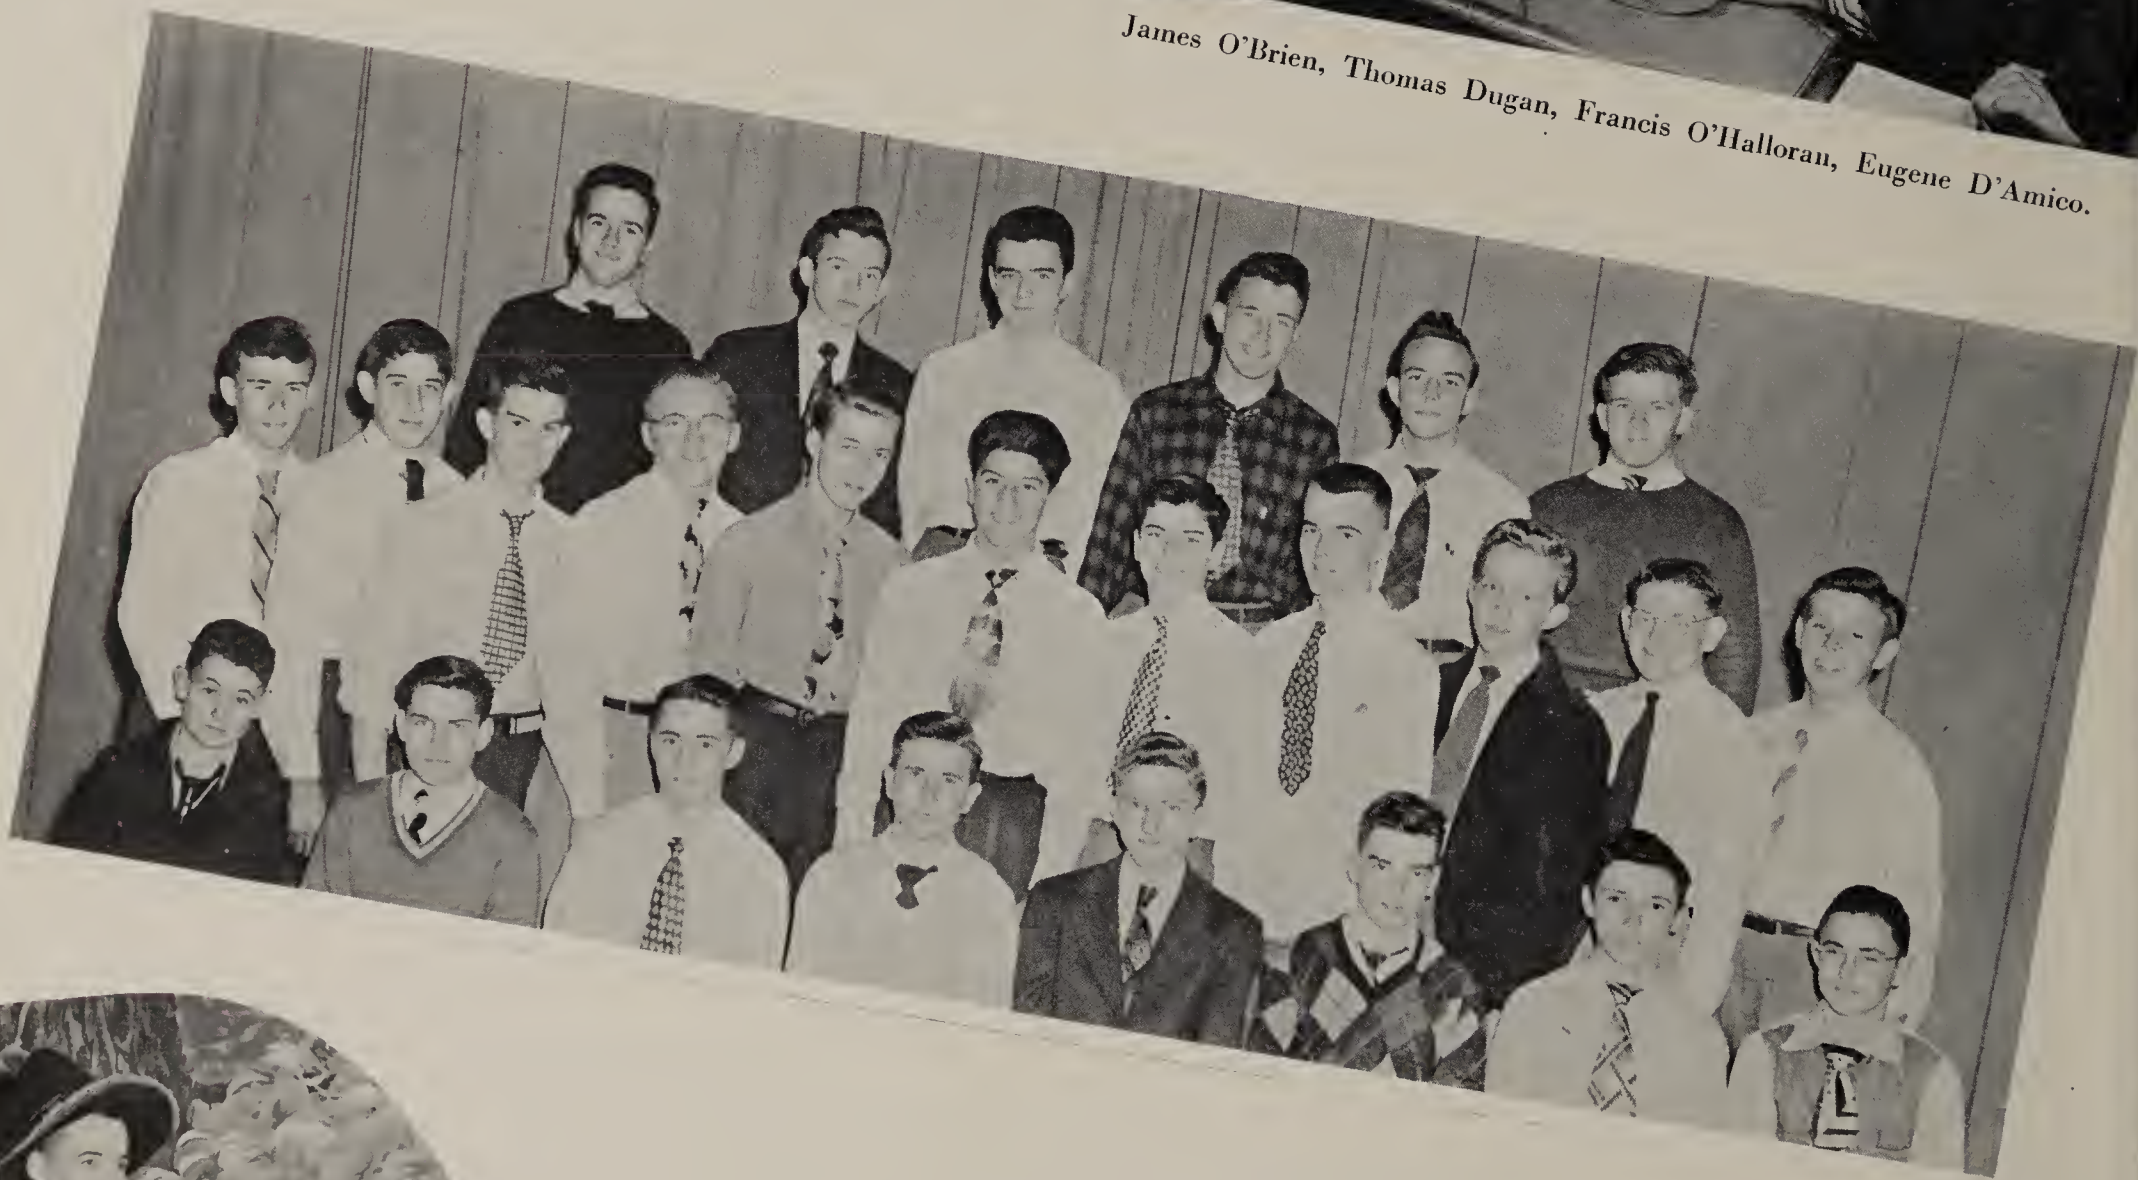

The St. Thomas Club, named for the patron of Aquinas, is composed of students who have attained an average of 90 percent for the year's work; with no mark below 75 percent. Each boy who meets these qualifications receives a maroon sweater with the letters S.T.C. on the front. Although the St. Thomas Club does not function as a club, it is regarded as a great privilege to be able to wear the S.T.C. sweater.

Spanish Club

James O'Brien, Thomas Dugan, Francis O'Halloran, Eugene D'Amico.

Especially does the Spanish Club seek to foster appreciation and interest in the cultures of the Spanish-speaking countries of this hemisphere. It is a tangible expression of the "Good-Will Policy" of our country. The Virola-Method of learning Spanish conversation supplements the three year course in the language. Spanish music is studied and the annual "Fiesta" is sponsored to extend the interests of the Club throughout the student-body. Mr. Jeffrey, C.S.B., is the Toreador!

French Club

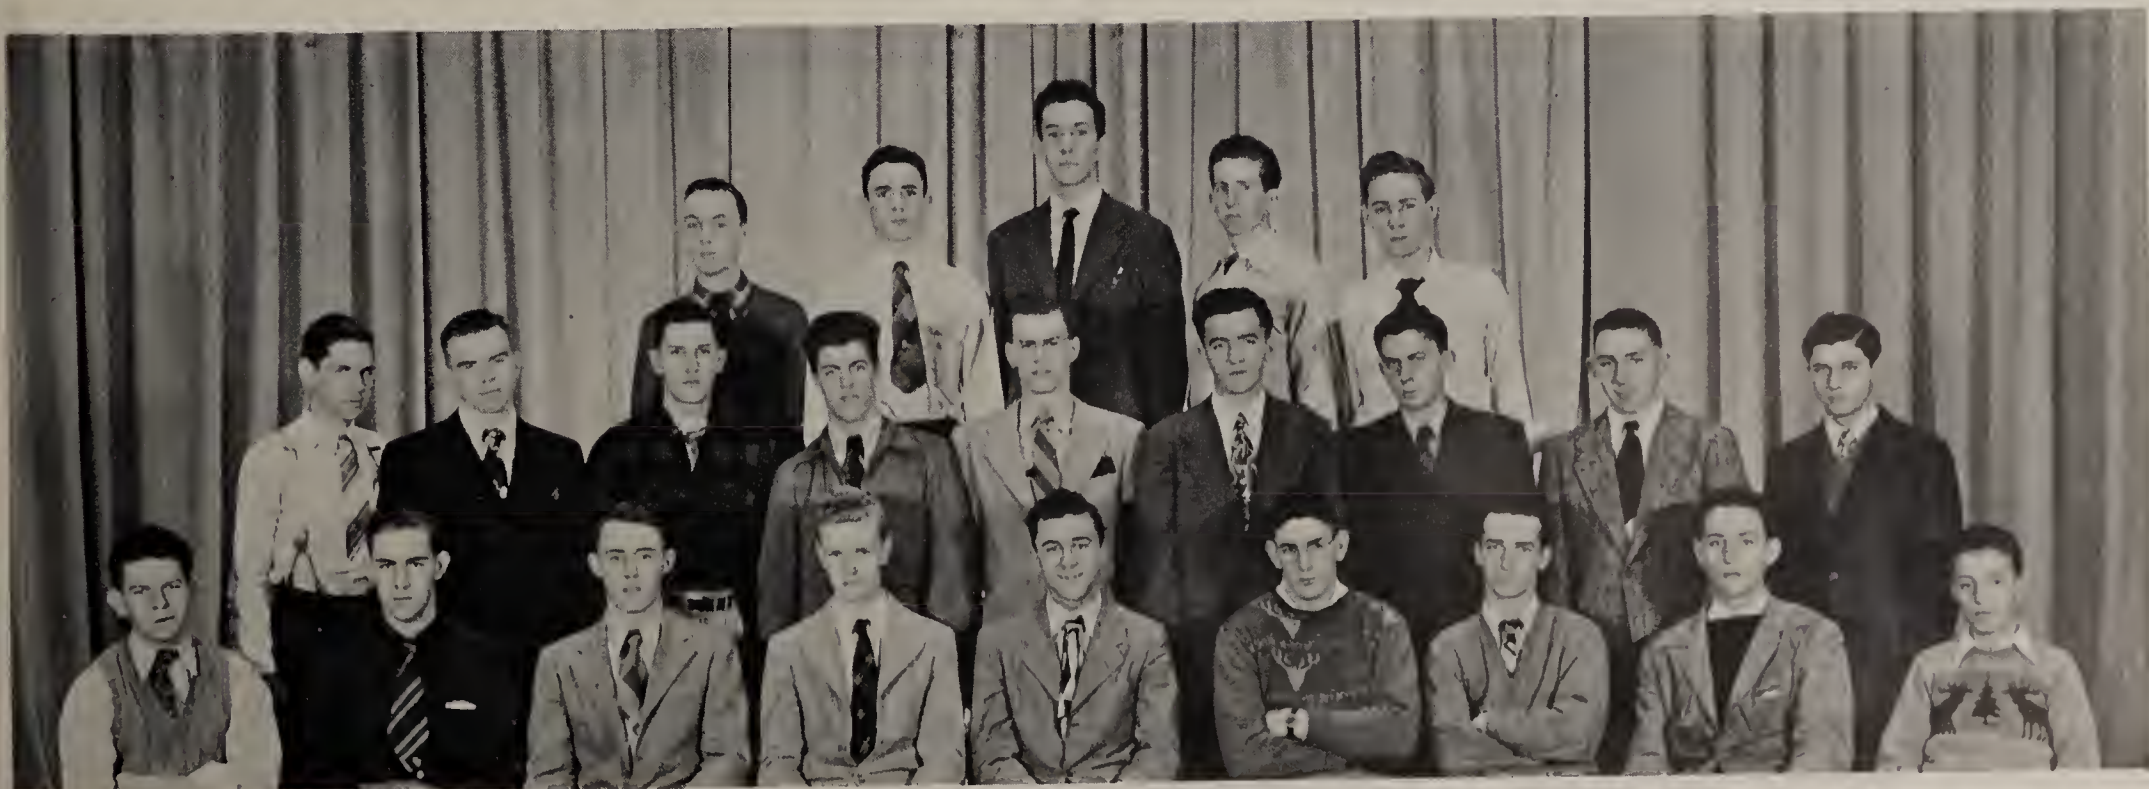

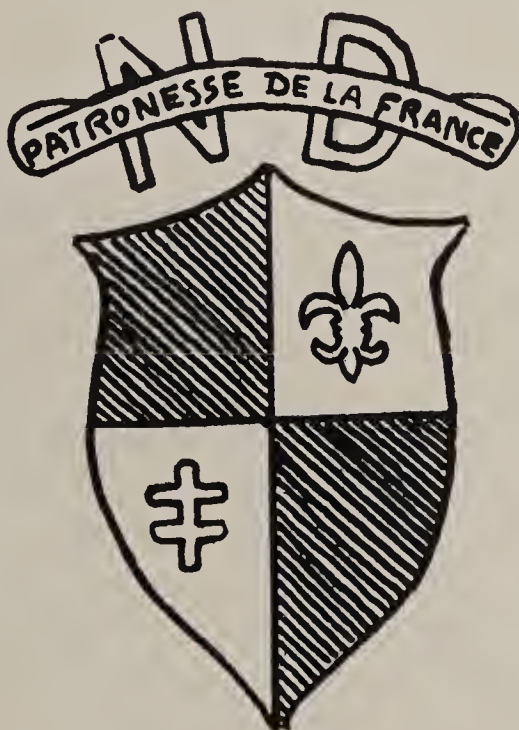

The Club members learn some French songs from the booklet "Chants de France."

Editor Ralph King discusses with his staff the latest issue of the French Club newspaper "Le Bouclier de Notre Dame."

"Le Cercle Francais" has sponsored a variety of activities this year. Under the leadership of its president, Paul Contestable, the Club organized and published a French Newspaper. The French Embassy provided the members with French movies to further extend their appreciation of the culture of "old France." French III students produced a play, "Nous Verrons," and presented it at Nazareth Academy. Money for French Relief was the Club's fiscal accomplishment. The zeal of the clubsters reached its zenith when they participated in a typical "Soiree" at Cutler Union. Vive la France!

Konrad von Preysing Verein

The officers of the German Club are: standing, Gerard Tucker, Secretary, Conrad Zaenglein, Treasurer and Robert Fess, Vice-President. Seated is William Pfaff, President.

To acquaint students with German Folk songs, music and dances, to become familiar with contemporary German authors, to appreciate German literature, and enjoy Gemutlichkeit in social gatherings—these are the aims of the German Club. Sister Laurene Marie vitalizes the group. The Club supplements the study of the language and is meant to create that curiosity and appreciation so necessary in the pursuit of a modern language.

Αλδoφoν o Πaρeργwν

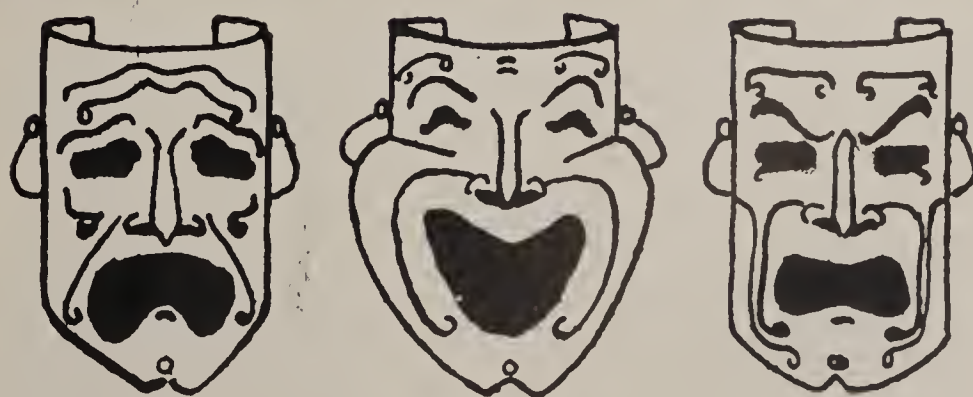

Brotherhood of Parergonists

Greek Club

Officers of the Greek Club are, Fr. Wurzer, Moderator, William Maloy, President, John Haag, Secretary and Ralph King, Vice-President.

Fr. Wurzer presides over the Alpha Pi Epsilon, a fraternal society, organized to promote the study and better understanding of Greek literature and culture. William Maloy, John Haag, and Ralph King are its leading spirits. It prides itself as the only such organization in New York State. Xenophon, Aristotle and Socrates must smile upon their modern enthusiasts!

Fr. Wurzer explains a difficult passage in Xenophon's "Anabasis."

Italian Club

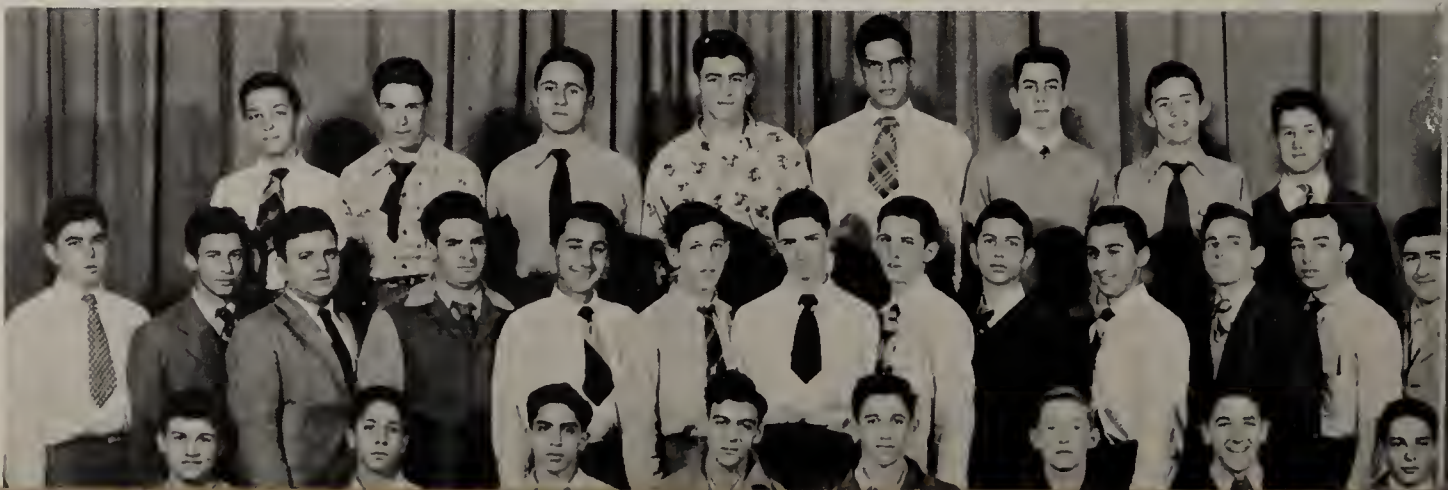

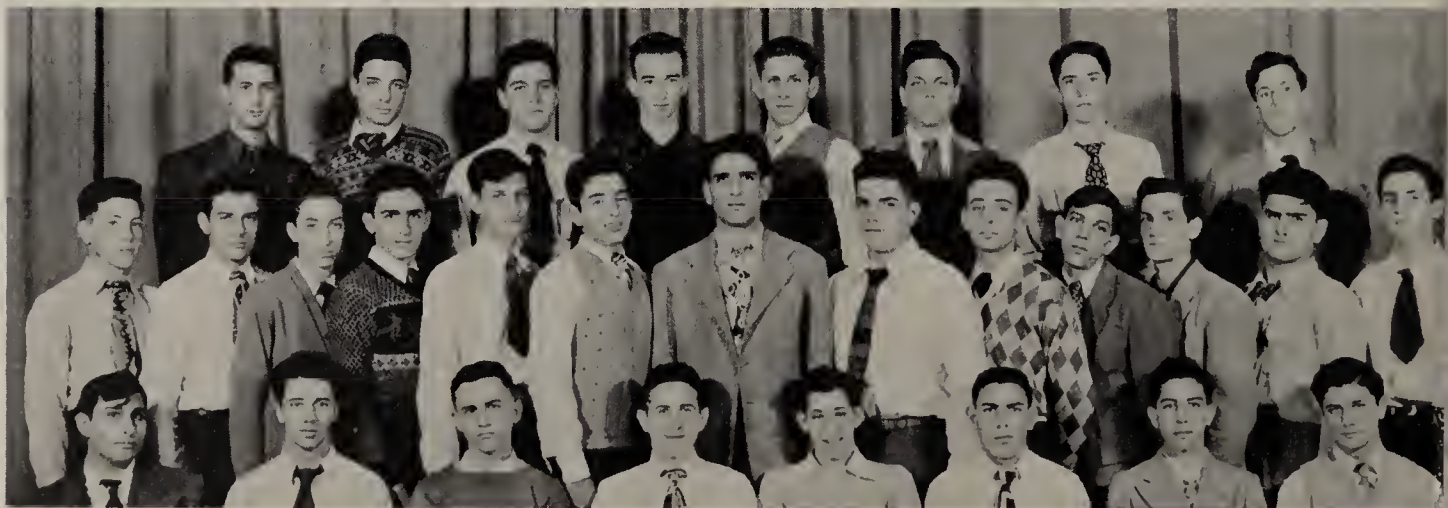

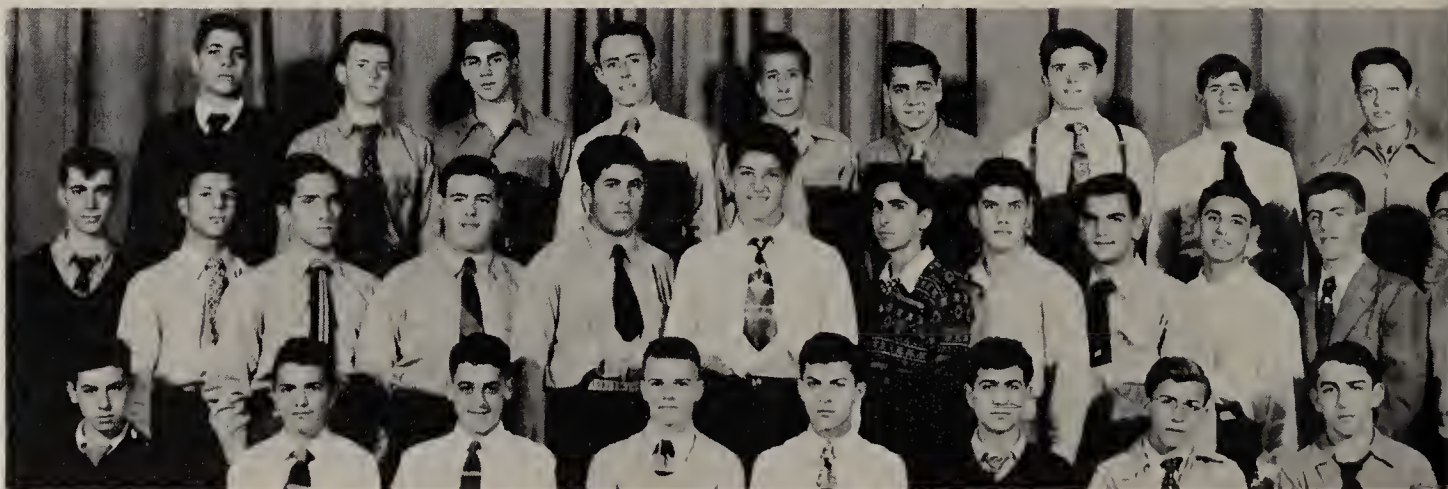

Eleven members of the club smile for the camera-man at one of the biweekly meetings.

Vice-President Anthony Russo, Secretary Tom Leo and President Joseph Cilano, discuss future plans for the Italian Club.

Father Lococo, C.S.B., broods over the many activities of the Italian Club. By means of Italian motion pictures, records, songs and short skits, the Italian course is supplemented for those who are interested in Italian lore. An annual fete with the sister club at Nazareth has become a big selling point. Then, too, there is the annual banquet, spaghetti of course, at one of the Italian restaurants in town. Joseph Cilano, Anthony Russo, and Thomas Leo guide the Club. The culture of Old Italy is made to live again.

Our Student Government

"Rule of the pupil, for the pupil, by the pupil," is the watchword of our student government. The school is a cradle of Democracy and Democratic living. Our Student Council is the expression of the democratic spirit of Aquinas. Their possibilities are innumerable, and extend just as far as the zeal of the members is geared to carry them. The Council is the official voice of the student-body; its aims are to supervise and promote all student activities.

Tom Falk and the Student Council hold a discussion on whether we should have napkins in the cafeteria.

The officers of the Student Council, who are also the officers of the Senior Class are, Robert Nowak, Vice-President, Tom Fitzpatrick, Treasurer, Tom Falk, President and John Haag, Secretary.

Library Club

Richard Wiest, Paul Schreiner, Paul Contestable, and David Hill form the executive of the Library Club. The members assist in the maintenance of order in the library. Each contributes one study period per week to be on duty to receive and let out reading material. An introduction to Library Science and an appreciation of the breadth of literature are ample return for their hours of practical assistance to Father Meyer, their Moderator.

David Hill helps Richard Wiest return some books to the Fiction Shelf.

These are the officers of the Acolyte Club. You see the Club members serving Mass and Benediction in the Chapel and auditorium. It is the members of the Acolyte Club that keep the chapel clean, prepare the auditorium for religious services and assist Father Meyer in seeing that the Liturgy is gracefully and efficiently handled.

Richard Wiest watches, as Paul Schreiner and William Brien prepare the altar for mass

Joe Leone and Paul Lappetito serve mass for Father Crowley.

Mission Unit

The Mission Unit at Aquinas could boast that no High School either in Canada or the United States outdid them in generosity of money contributed to the Foreign Missions. The exceptionally generous Aquinas Student makes possible the ever active life of the Mission Unit. Fr. Haffey, C.S.B., has long since whipped this organization into shape. Rallies, Collections, Old-Clothes Drives, Mission Bouts—are but a few of its tireless enterprises. "As often as you did it for one of these brethren, you did it for me."

James Ryan and John Dellavilla are President and Vice-President respectively, of the Mission Unit.

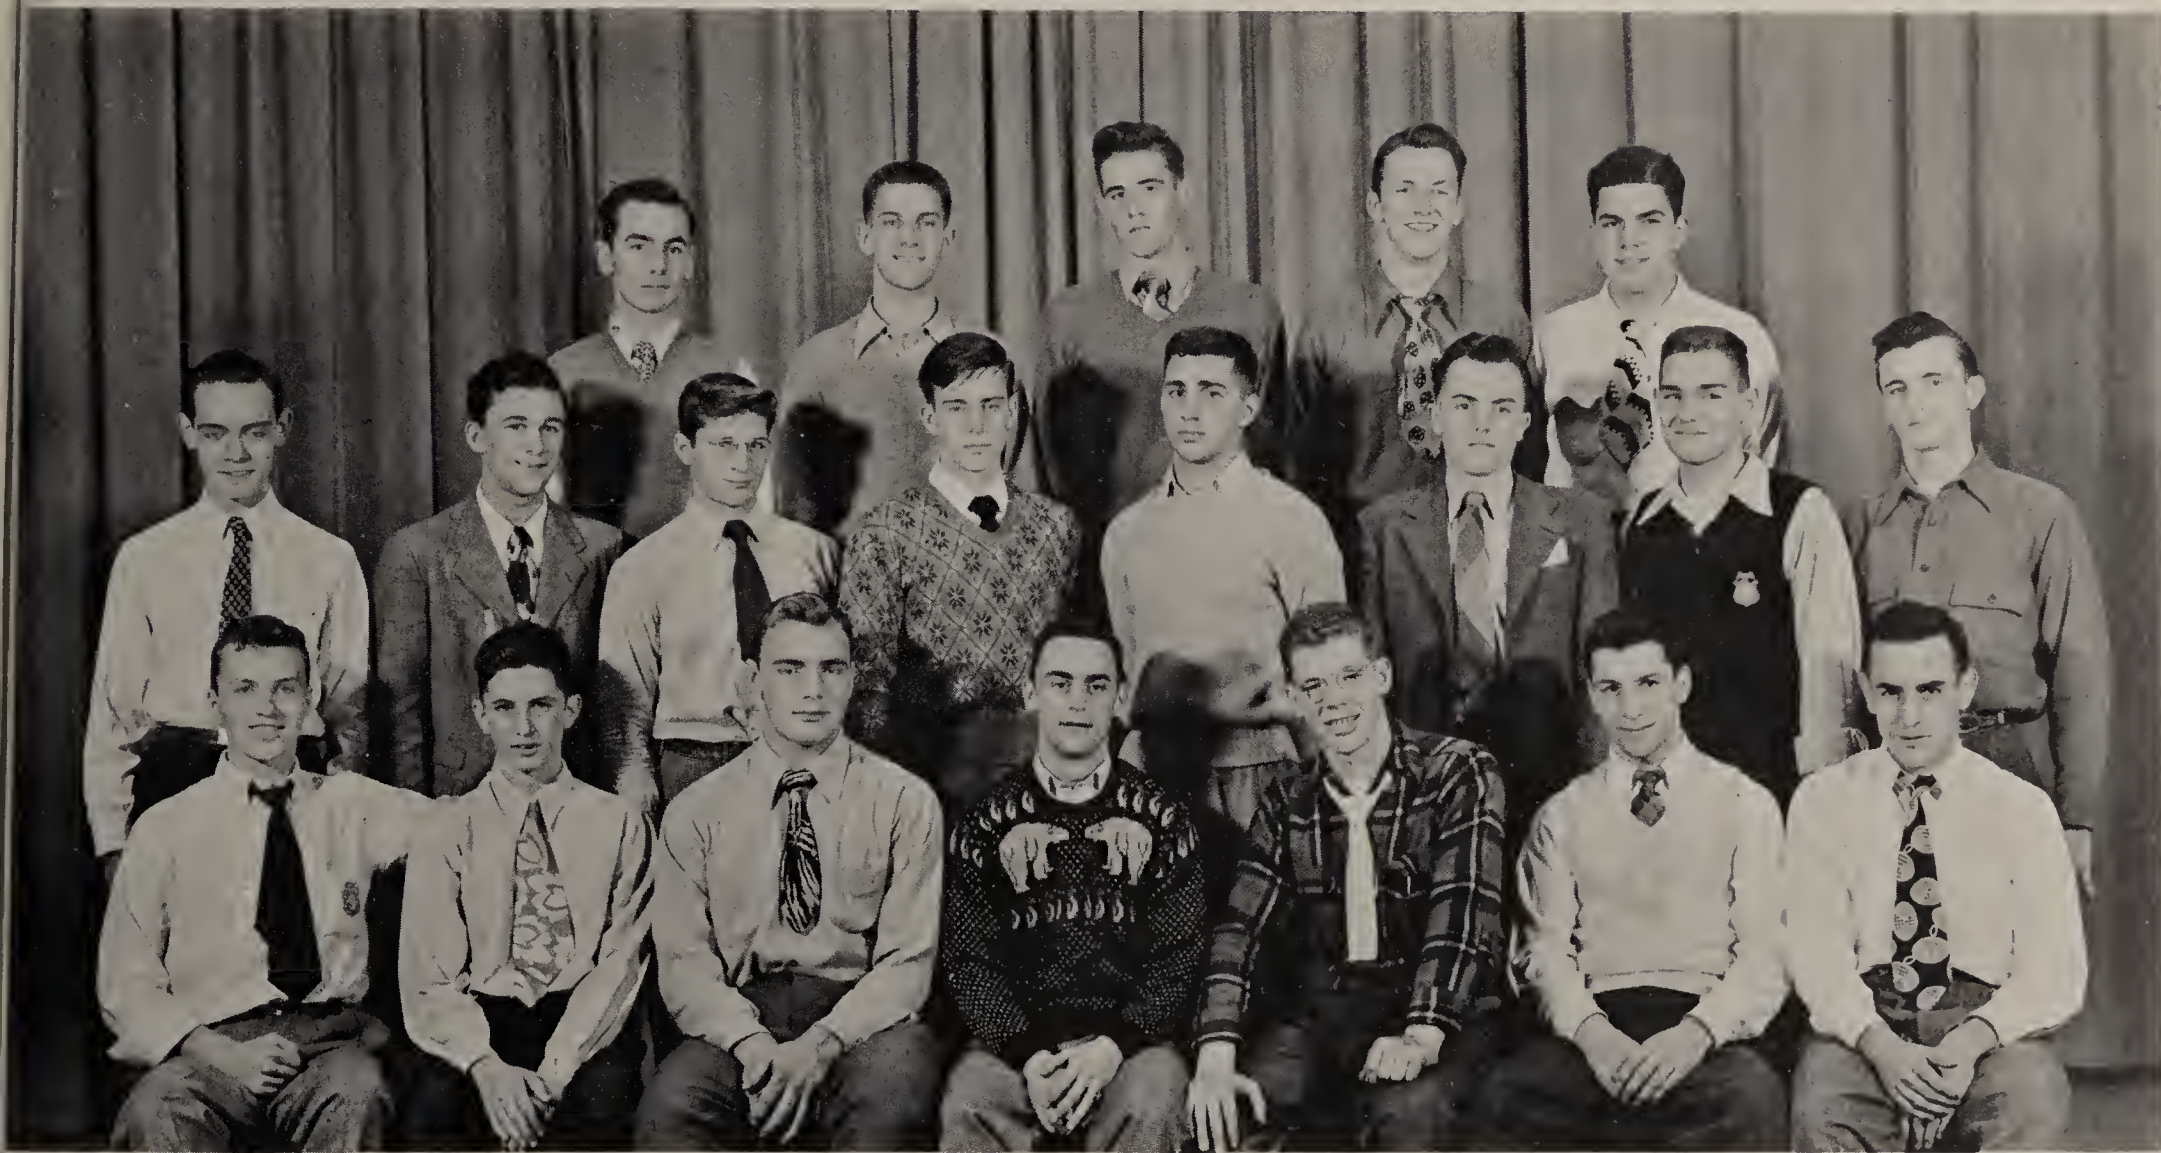

This is the Governing Body of the Mission Unit: Seated—G. Tucker, J. Ryan, R. Nowack. Standing—H. Springer, J. Farrell, R. Dugan

safety Patrol

Every morning before school, and every evening after three, the boys in the white jackets patrol the highways, making life safer for the Aquinas student. Captains Art Nowack and John Dwyer, and Lieutenants Al Schmitz and Duane Hagan take charge of four groups. Rain or shine, the patrol is always on duty. Surely we owe them a debt of gratitude, and posies to Fr. Willett, their Moderator.

A HASENAUER

Stage Crew

Muscles bulge as the stage crew lowers a backdrop.

The untiring work of Paul Schreiner, Richard Wiest, Francis Rappleyea and of their helpers has made possible the well kept, well lighted stage we see at Assemblies and at our school plays. Here are bred Broadway Stage Managers of the future.

Fr. Looby is the faculty adviser for the Stage Crew and Paul Schreiner is the Stage Manager.

It takes both hands to operate the switchboard.

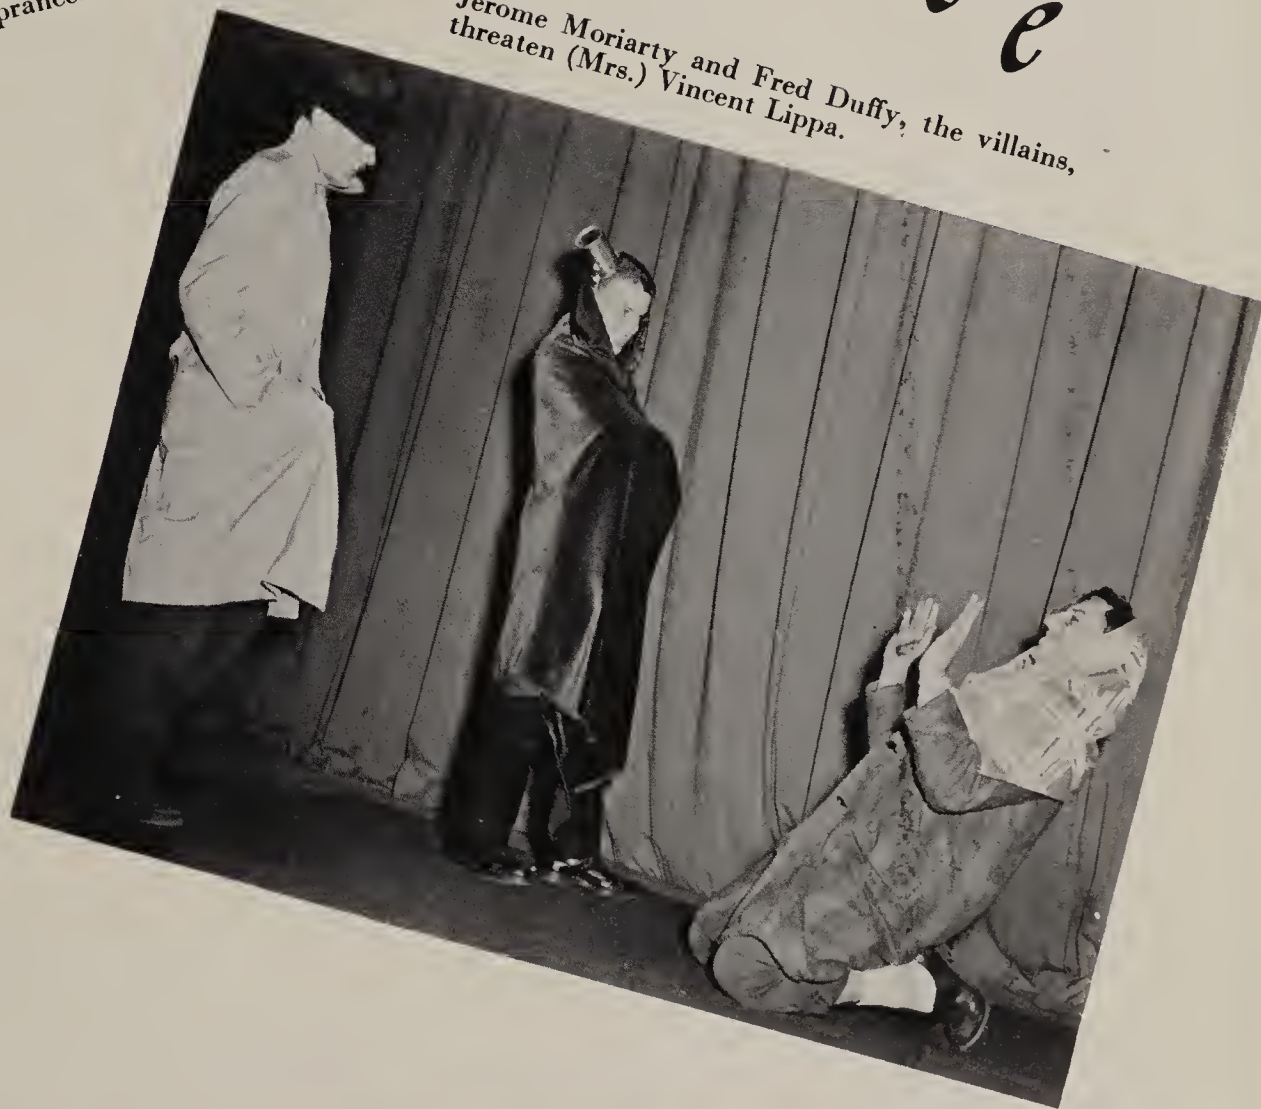

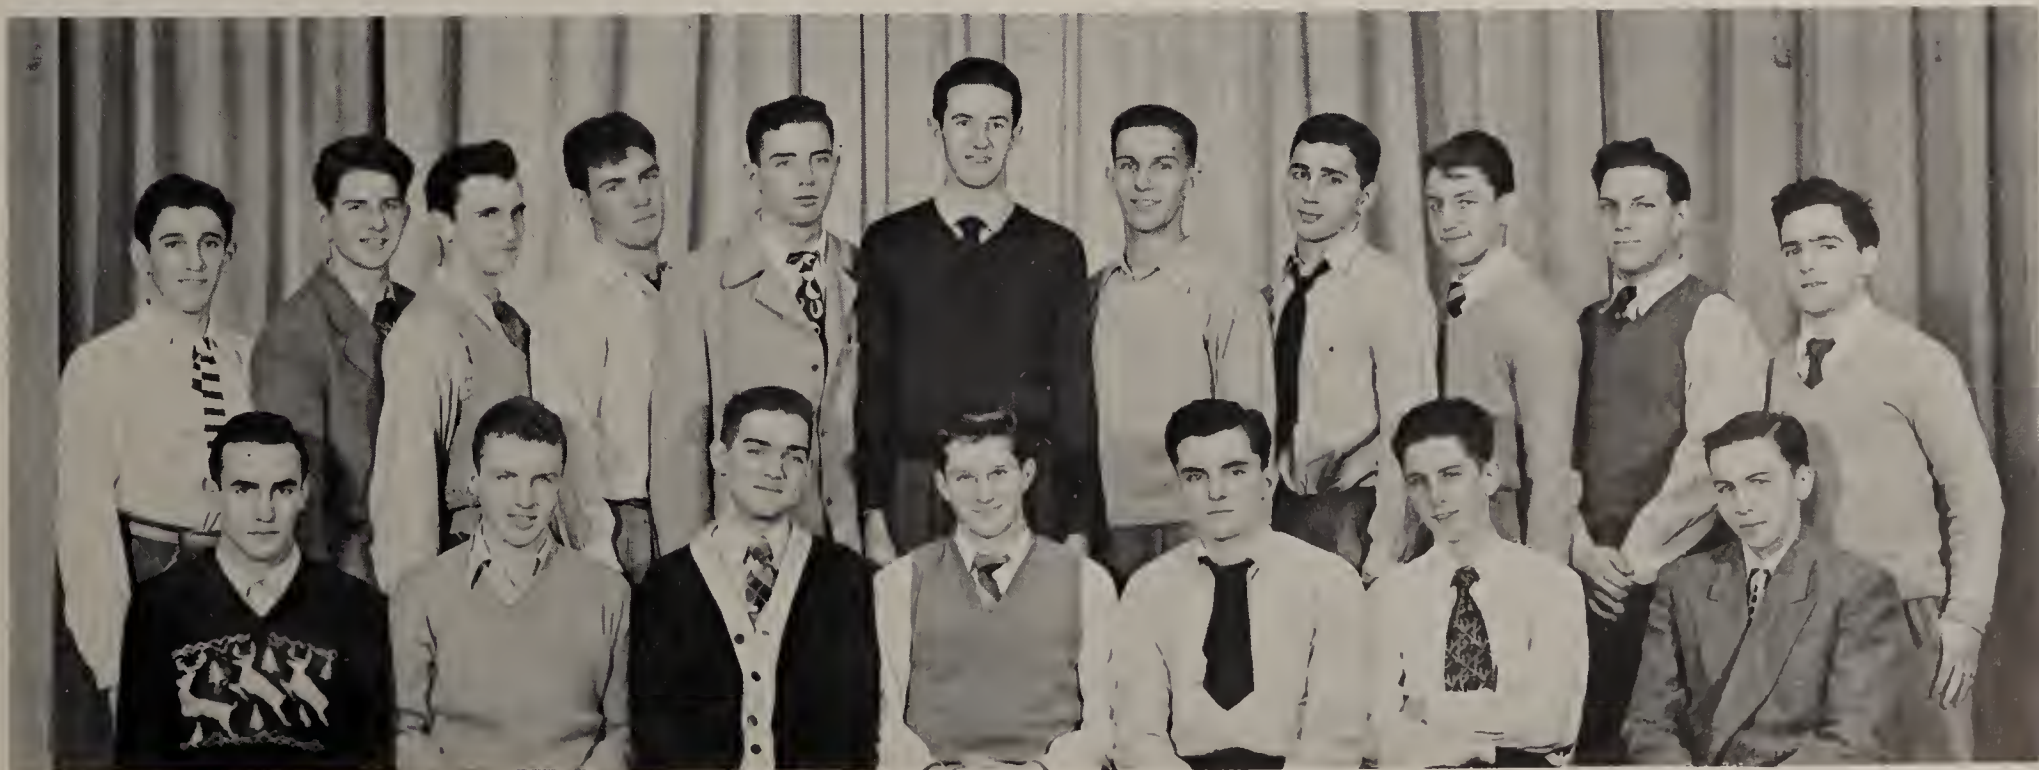

Dick Merkel and Gene Dziengielewski carry away Paul Lappitito while Guy Merkel prances with plenty of PEP.

Assembly Committee

Jerome Moriarty and Fred Duffy, the villains, threaten (Mrs.) Vincent Lipka.

Led by Bob Nowack, the Assembly Committee has sponsored popular and successful Pep-Assemblies throughout the year. It was this committee that planned and staged programs for these assemblies. A pleasant mixture of horse-play and slapstick made their skits the spice of the programs. Especially popular were the imitations of John Cappon. Together with the Cheer Leaders, the Assembly Committee stirred up the Spirit of Aquinas we witnessed throughout our Football and Basketball seasons.

MR. RAYMOND J. HASENAUER
Director

Senior

Band

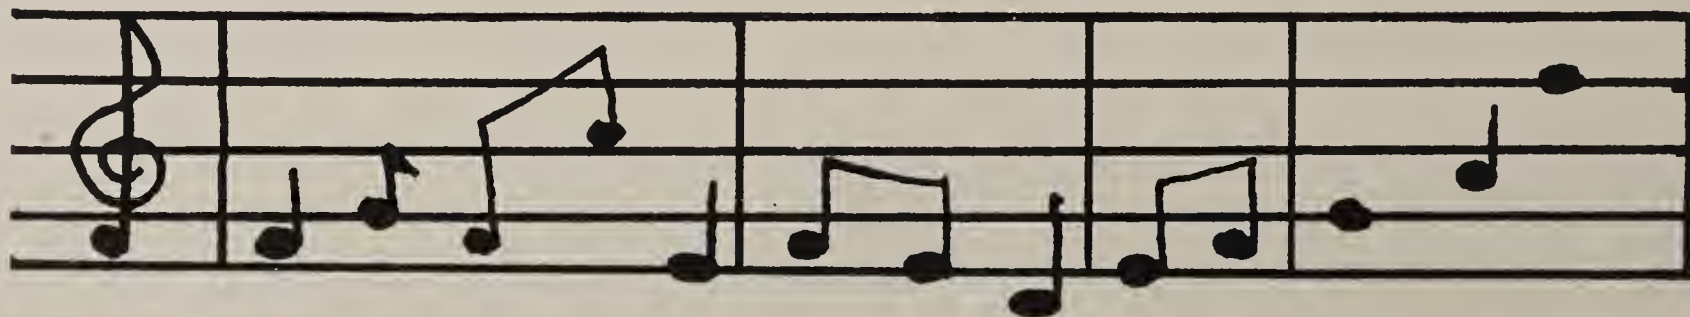

Pep assemblies, football games, basketball games, and the Memorial Day Parade have been the special public appearances of the Band. Behind the scenes are hours of practice and an endless patience of Mr. Ray Hasenauer. Aquinas Band with their flashy Maroon and White uniforms have become synonymous with the name of Hasenauer; and Hasenauer means good music and superb song. The Spirit of Aquinas owes much to the Band. The Band owes much to Mr. Hasenauer. To both Director and members the Senior Class offers a toast of congratulations!

Orchestra

Senior Glee Club

"Hasenauer and his Junior Pennsylvanians" have added hours to our entertainment. For that we are most grateful. But best of all, the Glee Club has trained and fostered the singing abilities of many Aquinas students. May the strains of the "Whiffenpoof Song" and the "Alma Mater" echo and re-echo in Aquinas halls for many years to come! With Arthur Hammer accompanying, of course!

Aquinader

The Aquinader is the official voice of the Aquinas Mission Unit. Its policy follows the informative by-line, keeping the student body acquainted with the progress of the Missions. It carries a big stick when it comes to stirring up enthusiasm for the crusade of charity toward the Fields Afar. Its Editor and staff are Father Haffey's press-agents.

The Nineteen Forty-Eight

Editor Arthur Martin, and Business Manager Gerard Guerinot check the sale of ads.

"Only a Year-Book Moderator has any idea of the enormous task the Literary Staff has accomplished in the production of this publication. To Arthur Martin, the Editor-in-Chief, goes the gratitude of the entire Senior Class. He has spent endless hours of back-breaking toil, sacrificed his recreation, his Saturdays and Sundays to make this Year-Book possible. A great debt is due John Haag, Gerard Tucker, Jerome Moriarity, Joseph Semmelmayr. Orchids to the staff artists, Albert Hasenauer and Don Gurnicki. Gus Falcone and Ray Intini come in for special mention. We should indeed be grateful to the whole Literary Staff. Here appear the names of but a few."

Father Malone.

The Chief and Literary Staff in conference.

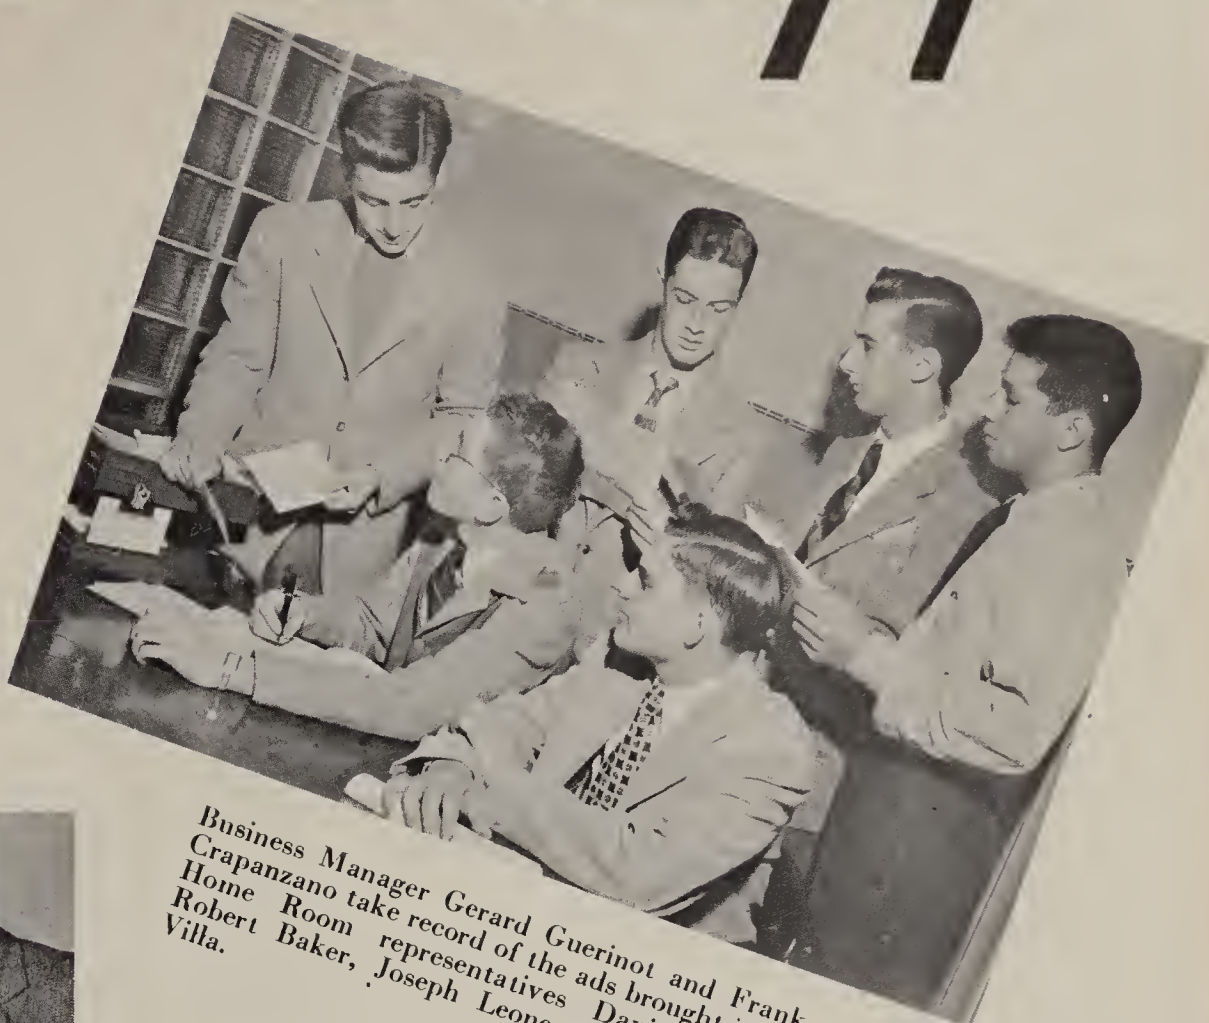

The Literary Staff

Ornette Staff

"No less to the Business Staff are congratulations in order. Gerry Guerinot and his crew of salesmen, and business tycoons have made possible the financing of this publication. Dave Brown and Joe Leone and their staffs have ably supported Gerry. To all those of the Senior Class who went out and obtained advertisements, and especially to Richard Wiest for his great work and engaging publication, the Senior Class owes this Annual. May the investment of their time and work repay them a hundredfold."

—Father Malone.

Business Manager Gerard Guerinot and Frank Crapanzano take record of the ads brought in by Home Room representatives David Brown, Robert Baker, Joseph Leone and John Della Villa.

Artists Al Hasenauer, seated, Don Gurnicki, Jack Trippe and Bernard Weis examine the cover design.

MAROON

Credo quidquid

Aquinas Institute,

Editor-in-Chief William Maloy holds a meeting of the Page Editors. Seated are Maloy and Managing Editor John Haag. Standing are Edwin Meyering, News Editor, Paul Contestable, Features Editor, Tom Fitzpatrick, Sports Editor, Bernard Weis, Art Editor and Ralph King, Literary Editor.

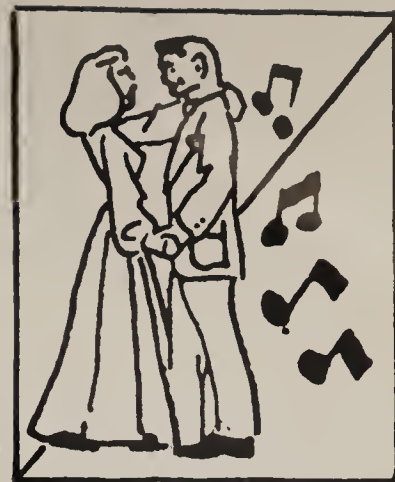

The "Maroon and White" has been the "vox pop" of Aquinas for over seventeen years. Fr. O. Regan, C.S.B. has long since been its Faculty Advisor. This year William Maloy holds the reins as Editor-in-Chief. Aside from the invaluable newspaper experience it provides for the staff, the publication has become the literary expression of school spirit, of student opinion, and instructional worth. The staff of the paper this year is to be especially congratulated on the many polls they have conducted, and the overall excellence of the articles carried. Maloy, King, Haag, Contestable are names that have become synonymous with Maroon and White! (Please accept the congratulations of a "rival" sheet!—Ed.)

and WHITE

dixit Dei Filius

Rochester, N. Y.

1947-1948

Sports Editor Tom Fitzpatrick and Paul Lap-petito discuss an article on football with Al
Schmitz while Paul White and Michael Ladato look on. In the background Robert Dugan dictates to James Donovan.

Russel Tripoli, Richard Whalen, Robert Fink and News Editor Edwin Meyering examine the results of their work in the latest issue of the Maroon and White.

Paul Contestable and his staff plan the layout for the features page for the next issue. Left to right are Contestable, Bernard Weis, Hubert Haefner, William Seccombe, Thomas Green and John Schonleber.

Chemistry Club

The "Mad Chemists" of '47-'48, salute Father Crowley as the Founder of their club whose practical implications are obvious. Norbert Rappl and Robert Fink lead their scientific group to new heights of dizzy gases and explosive research. As future chemists the members are treated to a deeper penetration and a fuller insight into the chemical science. Care of the Lab. is their special menial concern. Long after the more timorous student is safe at home, the intrepid experimentalists toil over the whys and the wherefores of mysterious solutions and compounds. But fear not! First Aid has been a 'must' to qualify for membership.

Augustus Falcone takes notes on the electrolysis of water while Thomas Lux, Harry Capadano, Vincent Lipa, Robert Baker and Frank Zientara perform the experiment.

John Young and Norbert Rappl carefully weigh the results of an experiment.

Joseph Mathews, Robert Raes and Robert Fink perform a complicated experiment.

Art Club

The members of the Art Club examine interpretations of the winter scene.

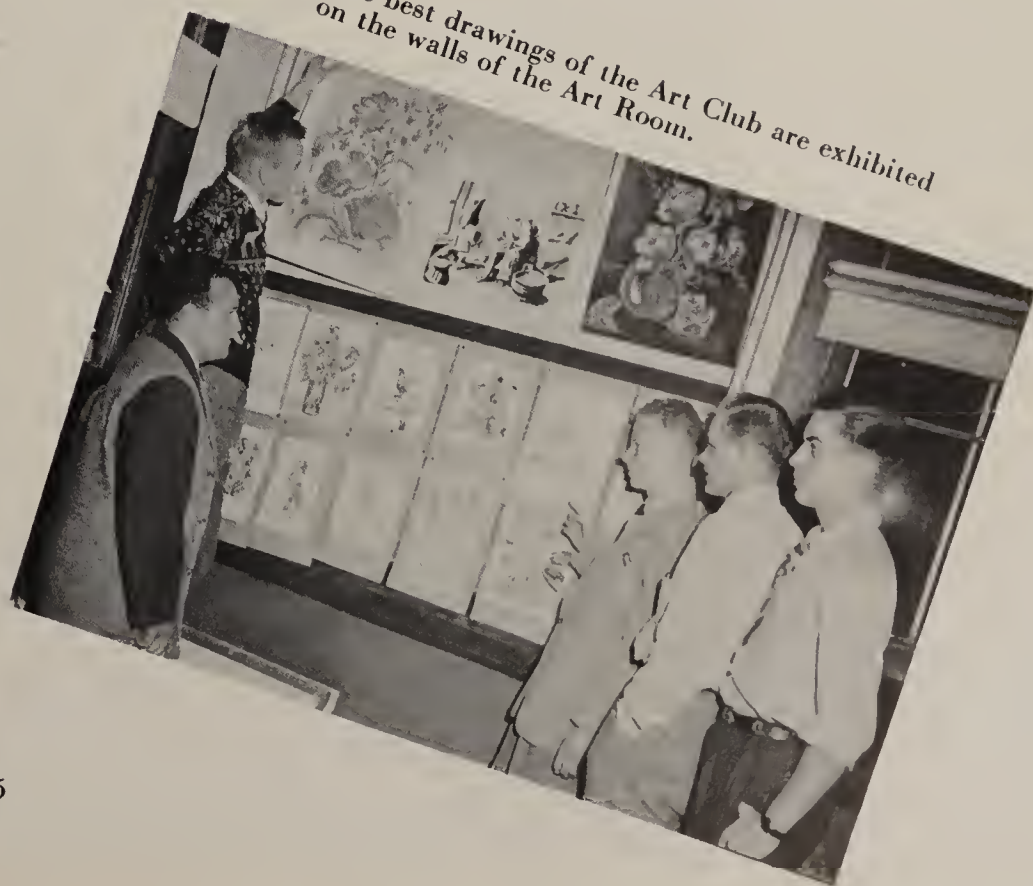

Robert Oakes, Norbert Metzger, Robert Walther, Irving Foss and Louis Drons display their still-life drawings.

The Art Club provides that freedom for the genius of the young artist that is often stifled in the classroom. Paintings materialize from hunches and abstract ideas. It is the haven for adventurers with the easel and the brush, the canvas and the charcoal. Sister Brendan has long nurtured and encouraged the artistic talents of Aquinas students.

The best drawings of the Art Club are exhibited on the walls of the Art Room.

Debating Team

Gerard Tucker makes an emphatic gesture as he argues against universal military training.

Under the untiring tutorship of Father Regan, a new phase of extra-curricular activity at Aquinas was initiated this year. True, there had been other attempts to form such a society, but the year 1947-48 saw the Debating Society establish its position as a permanent institution at Aquinas.

Saint Michael's College School of Toronto, Buffalo's Canisius High, and the C. B. A. of Syracuse provided some of the top opposition. The success of the Debating team this year stands as a challenge to future Ciceros. May the forensic feats of Aquinas ever flourish from this auspicious beginning.

John Haag, Gerard Tucker and William Maloy discuss the chief arguments against compulsory health insurance.

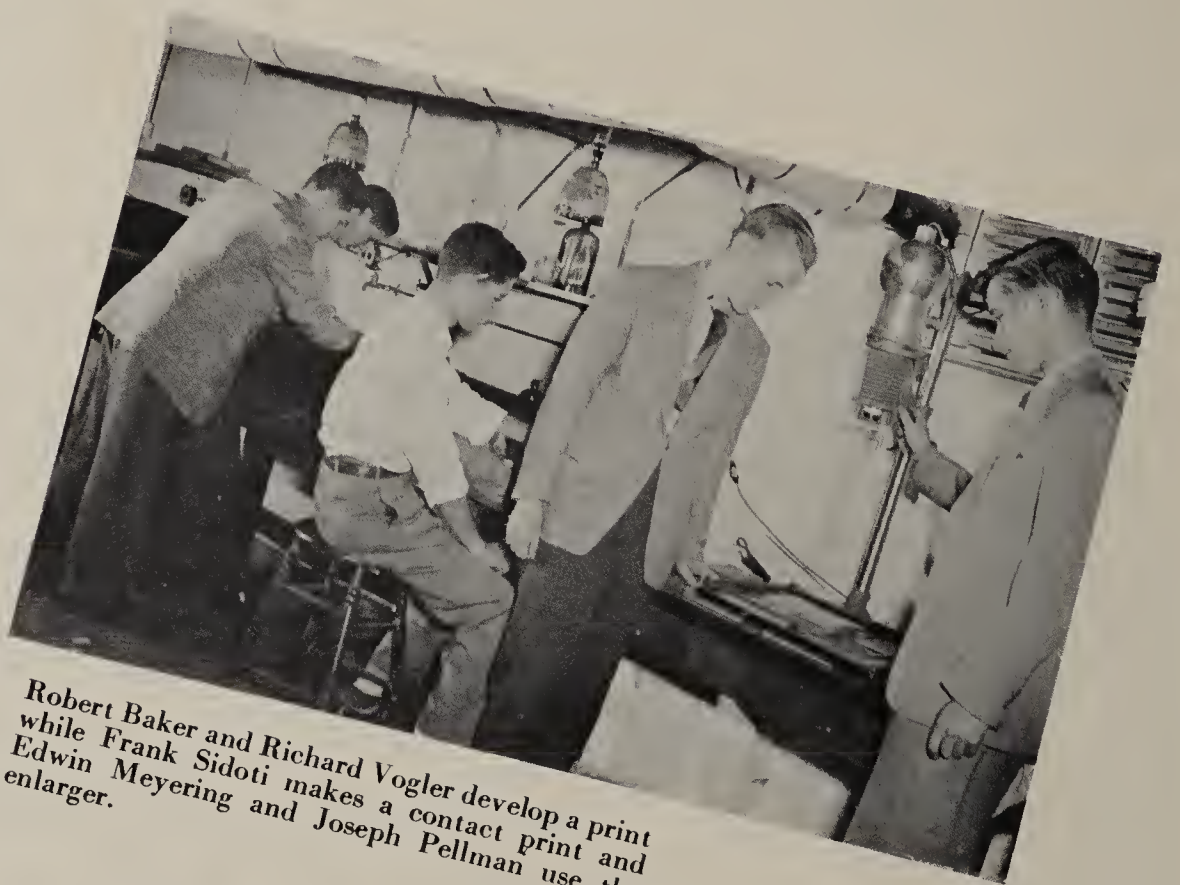

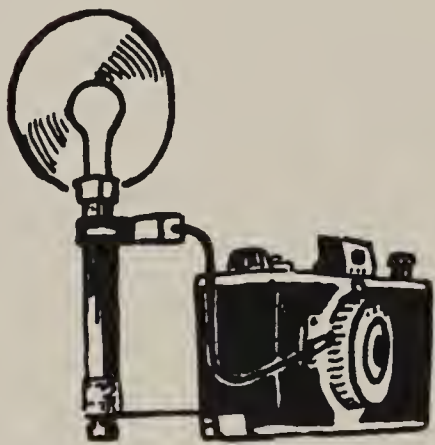

The other members of the Debating Team listen as Gerard Tucker explains his reasons for favoring compulsory arbitration of strikes.

Camera and

Joseph Semmelmayr explains how to use the enlarger to Frank Rappleyea and Donald Bower.

Robert Baker and Richard Vogler develop a print while Frank Sidoti makes a contact print and Edwin Meyering and Joseph Pellman use the enlarger.

Projector Clubs

To the boys of the Projector Club we extend a bouquet. They are the ones responsible for the technical quality of our Educational Movies in the Auditorium. Fr. Bergeron has the double duty of advising both the Camera and Projector Clubs. This Club has been set in such a way that the more experienced technicians conduct classes in the operation of the 16 mm. projector. Contestable and Dugan (Tom) are the Big Names of the club.

Contestable, Scheible, Meyering and Cooke in the "cutting room."

Tom Dugan shows Sidoti, Vogler and Spillane how to care for the projector.

Chess Club

Mr. Poluikis, Ralph King and Norb. Rappl are critical of Bob Baker's next move against Art Berhinger.

Perhaps no club has more enthusiastic club members than the Chess Club. Mr. Poluikis, C.S.B., himself an All-City Champ, guides his pawns over the Chess lanes most every night. The rumour is that the Chess Tournament will reach its final round some time in August. Norb. Rappl, Ralph King, Art Berhinger, Bob Baker and Bill Rausch are the future Alexanders and Bonapartes of the checkered board.

Tournament time!

Rausch and Frediana are the blindfolded champs.

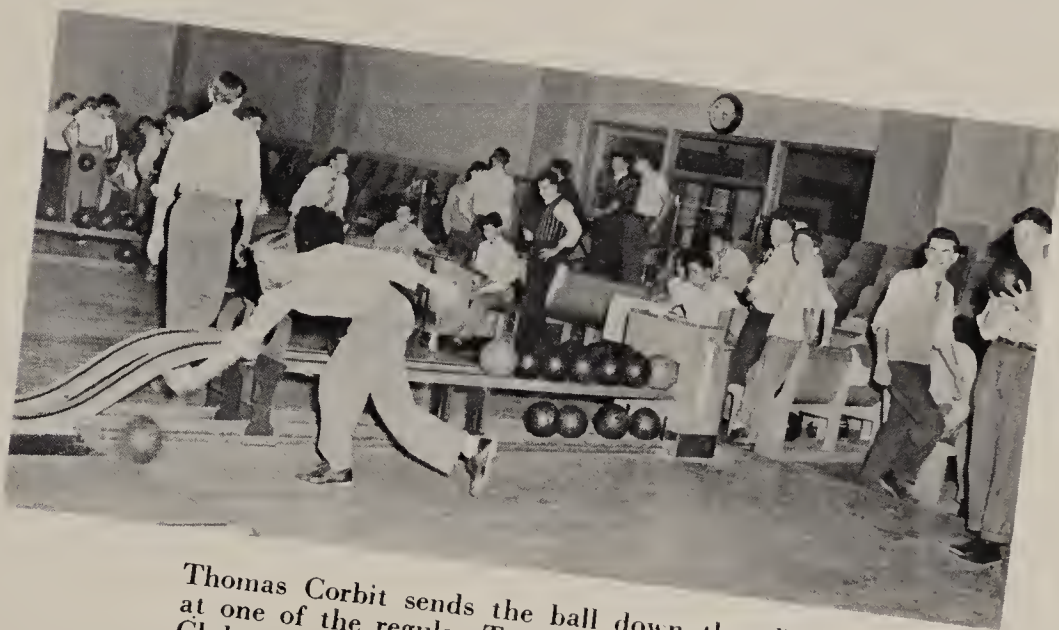

Bowling Club

The question is put whether the Moderators or the members most enjoy the activities of this large Club. Fathers Onorato and Lococo lead a throng to the alleys every Tuesday. "A sound mind in a sound body" (the Adonis type) is the philosophy the Moderators maintain. Perhaps the largest single club in the school, the Club boasts of socials and exercise that take the pain out of school.

Robert Fess lets go with a hook ball at the Ridge Bowling Hall.

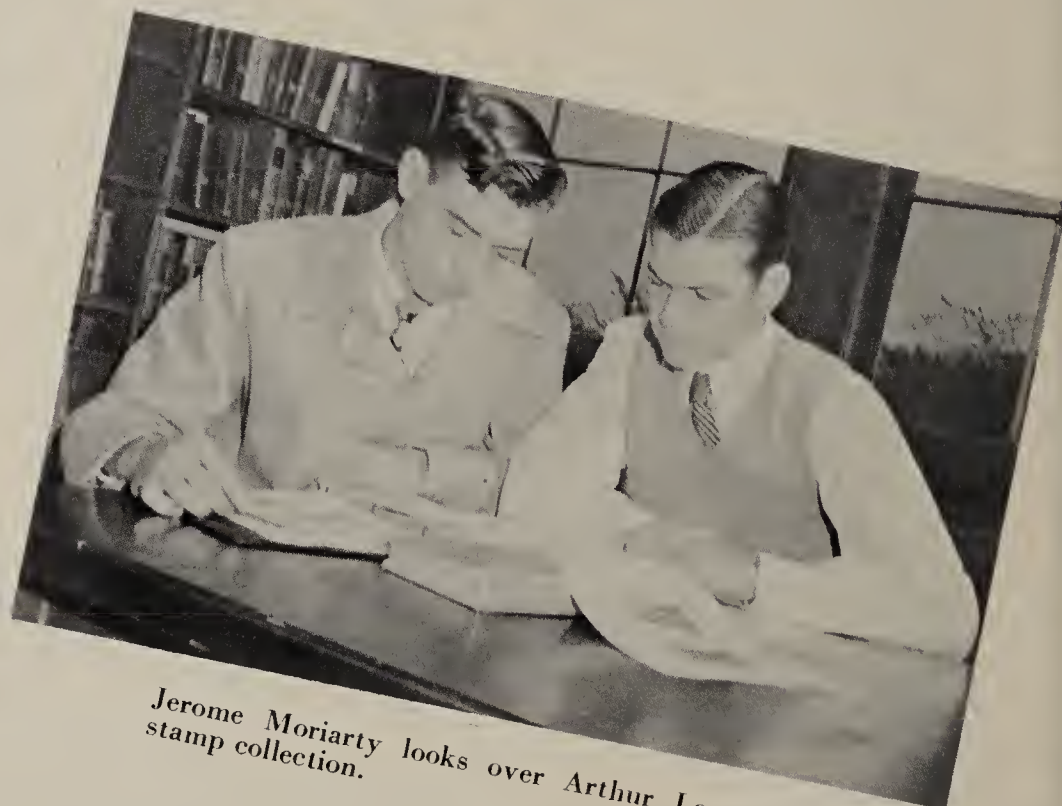

Thomas Corbit sends the ball down the alley at one of the regular Tuesday meetings of the Club.

Stamp Club

Four of the members of the Club catalog their stamps.

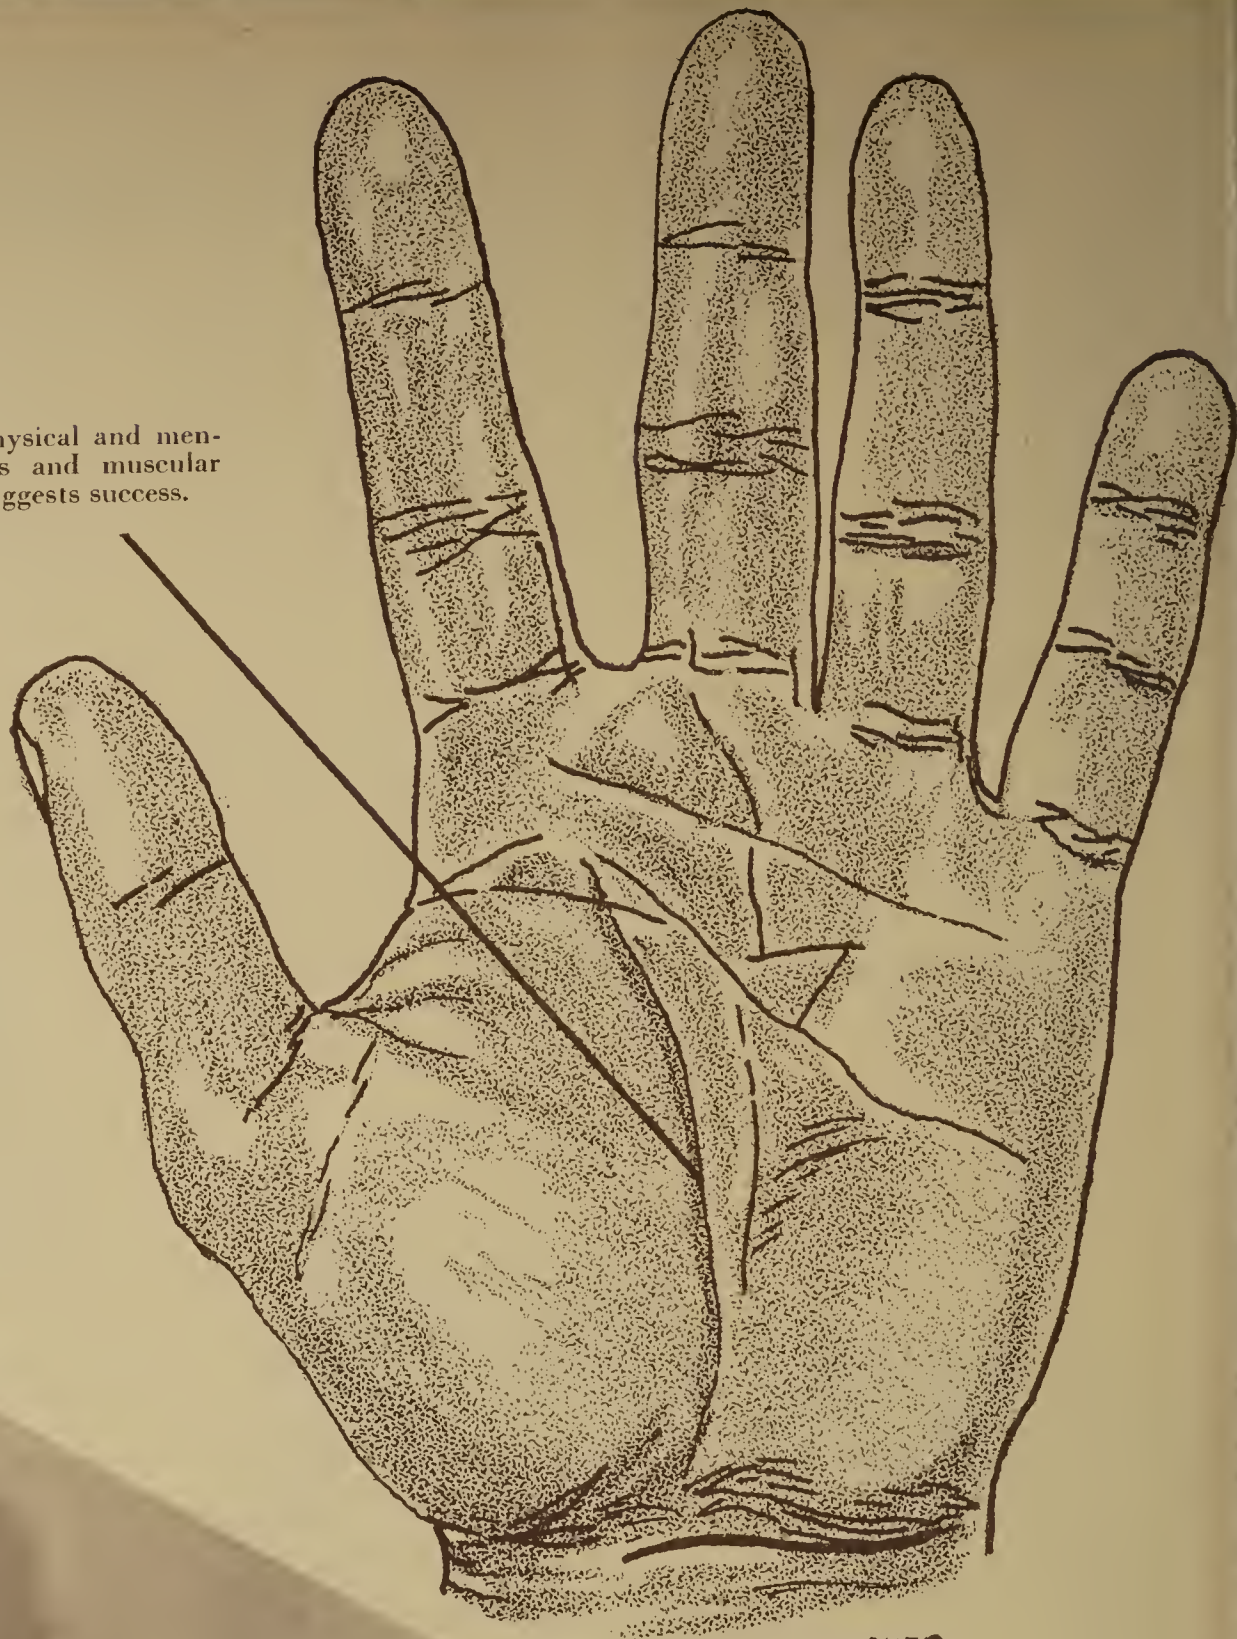

Jerome Moriarty looks over Arthur Loessel's stamp collection.

John Wirley takes a practice swing while the rest of the Club watches.

Father O'Leary, a past master of the Clubs, can be seen leading his potential Hagans and Sarazens over the bunkers and fairways most any Saturday. George Christ, Jerry Leicht, and Paul Lapettito have already gained fame on the links. There is rumor of a practice range on the back campus, where the theories of the game can be tested.

Gerald Leicht demonstrates the correct way to putt.

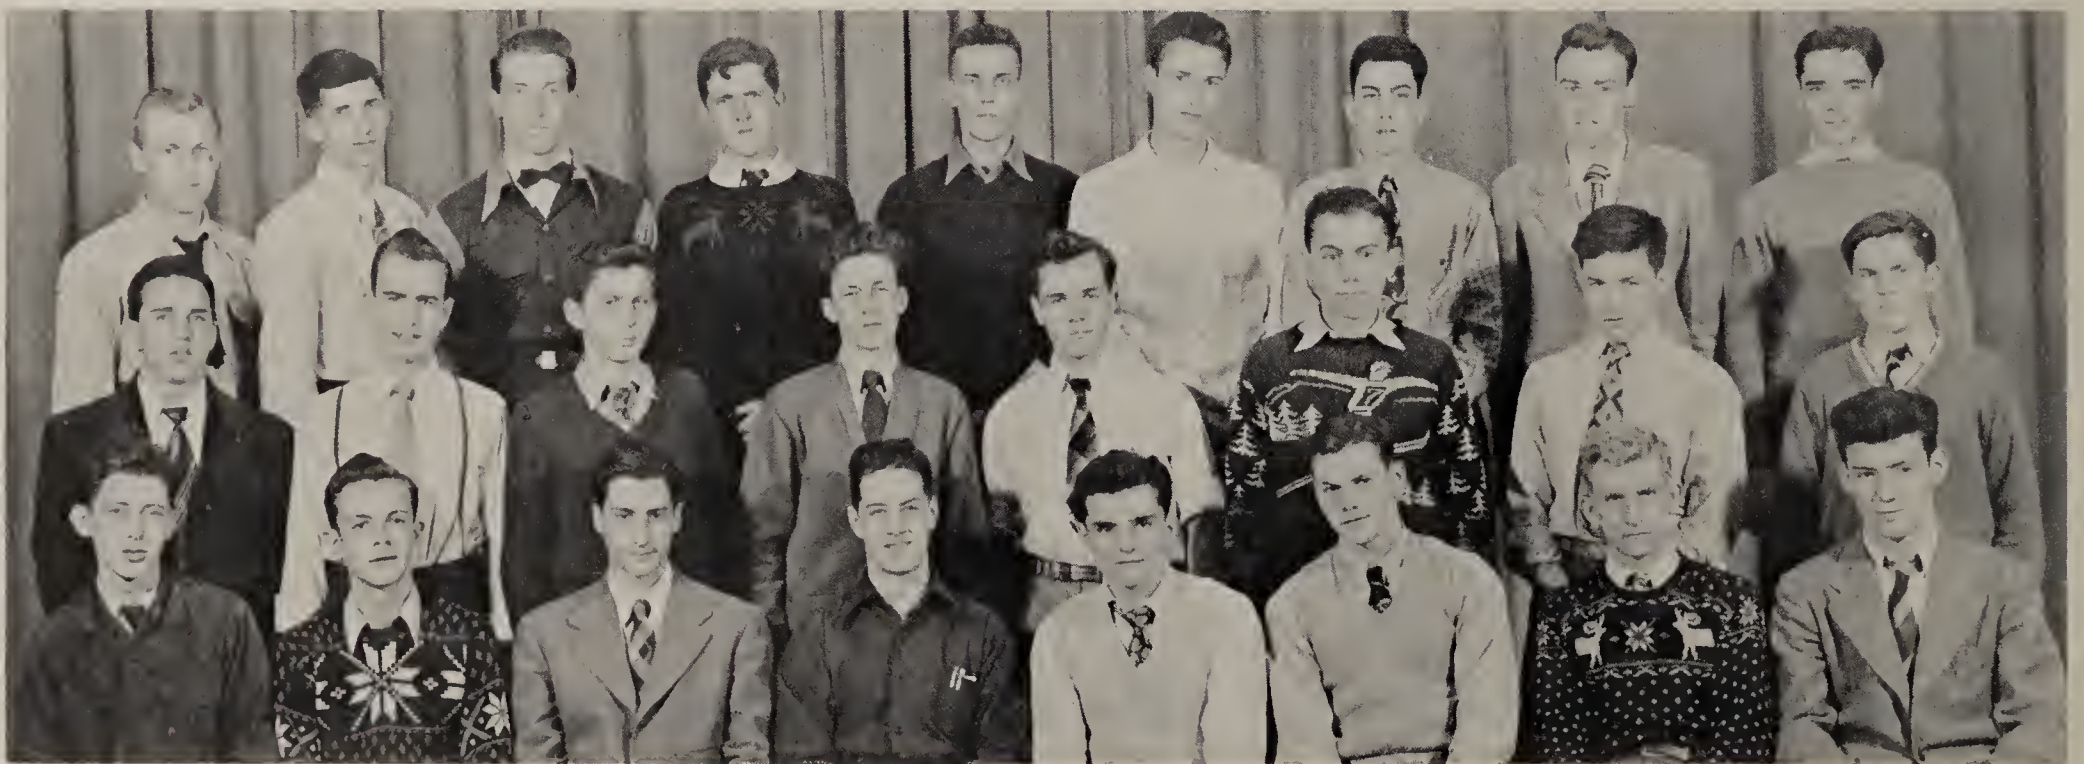

Ping Pong Club

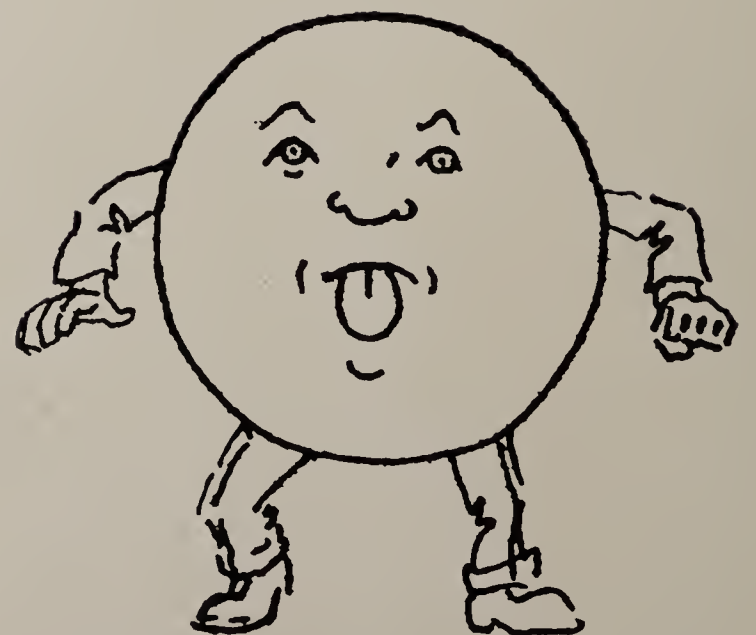

Arthur Hillis, Arthur Loesel, Tom Corbit, Bob Baker, Bob Deprez lead a group of forty-four Ping Pongers who call themselves scientists. Perhaps that is why Fr. Kehoe is the Moderator of the Club. Tournaments and individual matches are the order of the day when the Club meets. It is confined to Upperclassmen. As yet the facilities are limited, but it is the hope of the Club that every enthusiast may be given the opportunity to sharpen up on his coordination, as the quarters are enlarged.

Robert Deprez has a determined look on his face as he gets ready to hit the ball. Robert Baker watches.

Sodality of the Blessed Virgin

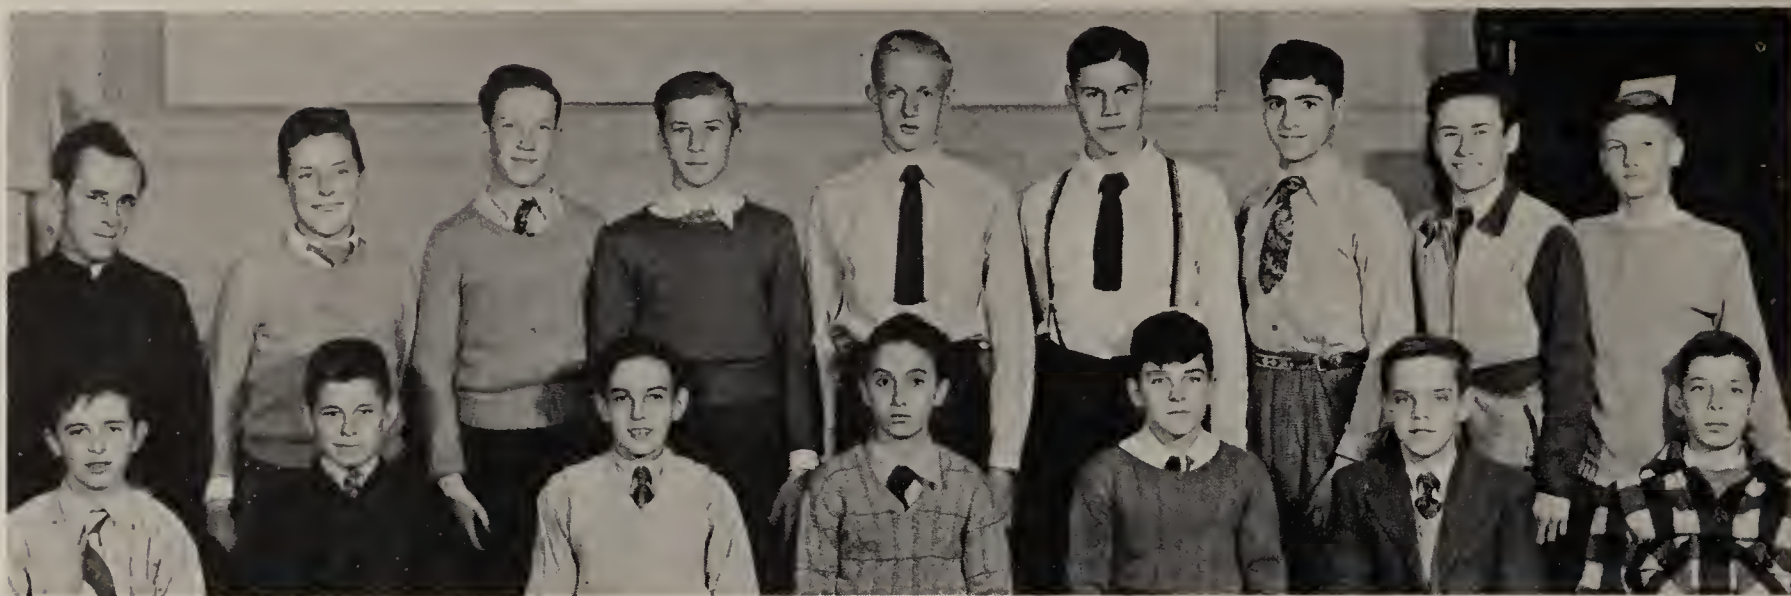

Bishop Kearney places a Miraculous Medal around the neck of a Sodalist at the Reception into the Sodality. Fr. Crowley stands next to the Bishop.

Perhaps never before has the Sodality of Our Lady been a more active organization at Aquinas. It is indeed "a picked battalion"! Its far-reaching effect on the life of the Aquinas student can only be surmised, for "good always diffuses itself"; and the first purpose of the Sodality is the personal sanctification of its members. Under the apostolic direction of Fr. Crowley, C.S.B., the Aquinas group has taken a stellar role in the Diocesan Sodality. The zeal of its officers, John Farrell, Jimmy Ryan, Bob Dugan and Paul Napier, has promoted a spiritual revival and consciousness that is the breath of the Christian life. The Friday Spiritual Conference is but one evidence of their planning. His Excellency, Bishop Kearney has made the Sodality his special interest. Mary has become the "Belle of the Campus"!

"B" Team

Father Bergeron coached the Reserve Football squad to a .500 season. The bright spots were wins over Industrial 32—0; and over Allendale 12—6. Here are trained the future members of the Varsity. As a Farm the Team's success is measured in the number that make the Big Time next year. Theirs is a year of training and the schedule is secondary. Father Bergeron is the maker of Aquinas Football squads. We'll be seeing you next Fall, you "B's".

Freshman Team

Mr. Biondi, C.S.B., and Mr. Moynihan, the coaches of the Frosh, took a squad of forty through an almost undefeated season. They dropped only one game. Several players showed exceptional promise. We might mention Gerry Campagna in the backfield and two 190-lb. tackles, Charles Sohn and Bob Cilano. The coaches look forward to the day when their products, profiting from their Freshman training will carry the Varsity colors.

Ed. McCluskey tries to block a shot by a Manlius player.

The trouble with the Maroon and White Varsity Basketball was that they were too good for High School competition. To get a game they were forced to look over College Frosh teams. Whenever they played a High-School team, there was a "slaughter." Penn State Frosh tasted their fire to the burn of 53-43. Holy Family High was dubbed twice. Canisius Prep of Buffalo and Cathedral Prep of Erie were vanquished. St. Bernard's of Bradford and Canisius Frosh were their victims at the end of the season. Perhaps the pay-off was the game where Aquinas almost dumped the apple cart of Le Moyne College, 44-40.

Every player on the team deserves special mention. Joe Dimino was the high scorer and singled out for All-Scholastic recognition. Coach Wright did a fine job and the team can point, if not to a great many wins, at least to the close scores against older and experienced opposition at the College level.
